TROUBLE SPOT — Drilling yesterday afternoon disclosed that a water leak plaguing the city may be on N. Court St. in front of The Herald office. Appropriate steps are being taken by Ervin Leist and the Water Department to repair the line.

Once Around Roundtown

MANY LOCAL people have been considering a 50-mile hike in keeping with President Kennedy's physical fitness program. . . Overheard contemplating the jaunt were several patrolmen of the Circleville Police Department; Mrs. Annabelle Amey, society editor of The Herald and several other Herald employees.

A BOX of clothing was received by the local Red Cross Chapter for the Charles Frazee family from Ted Lewis and his wife, Ada.

The Frazee family was left homeless Jan. 24 when a fire destroyed their home and personal belongings. . . Ted and his wife, residing in New York, read of the tragedy and sent the articles to the local Red Cross office for the family.

THE BOARD of Directors of the Pickaway County Chapter, American Red Cross, recently received a letter of appreciation from the Veterans Hospital, Chillicothe, for "the valuable contributions to the hospital by volunteers from the Circleville area." The letter especially commended the volunteer services of the Gray Lady unit.

Macmillan Expected To Win in Vote

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan appeared certain to win parliamentary endorsement today of his program to counter the effects of the French veto barring Britain from the Common Market.

The House of Commons, winding up a two-day debate on the country's economic future, was scheduled to vote late in the day on a Labor party motion of no confidence. With the Conservatives holding a 100-vote margin over the combined Labor-Liberal opposition, there was virtually no chance that Macmillan's government would fall on the issue.

Opening the debate Monday, Macmillan roundly denounced President Charles de Gaulle's government for its veto, then outlined a series of emergency actions he is planning to fill the void caused by the collapsed negotiations.

Among them:
A Commonwealth trade ministers' meeting to be held in London in April or May to stimulate business.

Britain will seek closer trading cooperation with the United States, her friends in Europe and other nations.

Large Water Leak In City Is Found

The city's troublesome water leak apparently has been isolated. All indications point to a leak in the ground immediately in front of The Herald office on N. Court St. The escaping water was discovered yesterday afternoon by Water Department crewmen who bored through a small section of the street.

The next step, according to Utilities Manager, Ervin Leist, will be to make necessary repairs. However, some additional problems have cropped up.

Leist said present plans call for shutoffs in various sections of the city. Actual work is not scheduled to start until Thursday in order to allow time for proper planning and minimum emergency measures that will have to be taken.

'Da Schnozz' Observes His 70th Birthday

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Jimmy (the Schnozz) Durante admitted today he had a birthday—his 70th—"but I don't want everybody to know about it."

The veteran entertainer, interviewed at a hotel where he is appearing, described it this way:

"Thank God I had another birthday. Da party? Sure. It was after da show an' they asked me if I didn't want to come in and have some tea. It was a big surprise to me. We had a wonderful time."

"Mrs. Morris Lansburgh (whose husband owns the hotel) gave it. He's in Las Vegas. A few of my friends was there—George Raft, Eleanor Holm, Rocky Marciano, Little Jack Carter, Gene Bayless, Peter Lawford and a lot of others. "I wanted to go four rounds wit' Rocky, but he wouldn't take me on. Everybody had a lot of fun."

Durante does an hour and 15-minute show and keeps going night after night.

"No other entertainers—just us" he said.

"But it's been a lot of fun, and I'll go on as long as I can—as long as they come to see me and I can make 'em happy."

This Is Decision Day for Marching Marines

CAMP MEJUNE N.C. (AP)—This is the Day of Decision for the Marines.

This is the day they learn whether they're as physically fit as Boy Scouts, female reporters or Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

This is the day that 34 officers, led by Brig. Gen. R. McC. Tompkins, set off determinedly on a 50-mile hike.

What began as a lark quickly turned into something decidedly different.

Marine Commandant Gen. David M. Shoup discovered an ancient order by President Teddy Roosevelt that showed how a 1908 Marine was expected to march 50 miles within three days. Shoup sent the old order to period will be required at the pumping plant west of Circleville. However, the local Container Corporation plant has agreed to come to the rescue.

Leist said, as it stands now, Container will offer its water system for use to certain sections of the city while the repair work on Court St. is in progress. He said a detailed description of the shutoff spots and the residential area to be supplied by Container will be made known by tomorrow.

If the Container system is pressed into use, Leist said residents in the areas covered should plan on boiling their water before consumption as an added safety precaution. This same procedure was utilized here in 1959 when high waters forced curtailment at the city's pumping station.

Leist said the decision to delay repairs was taken to keep numerous heating plants here in operation. An immediate water shutoff, without giving Container time to put its system into use, could mean these units would have to shut down.

The Water Department boss said no problem would exist if the city's new elevated water storage tank on Nicholas Drive was in use now. However, this system is not due for operation until spring or early summer.

Satellite Shot Delayed

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) An overnight rain and lightning storm which kept workmen off the launching pad forced a 24-hour postponement—until early Thursday—of an attempt to launch the Syncom communications satellite.

The shot had been scheduled for 12:01 a.m. Wednesday.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration reported that the launch crew had been unable to do preliminary work on the rocket and payload because of the danger posed by lightning, which accompanied heavy rain.

Officials had expressed doubt earlier that the Wednesday launch date could be met because of predicted high altitude winds which could affect the Delta booster rocket.

President Kennedy, who wondered whether today's Marines were as fit. So the tests were called for.

But horrors! Before the Marines could prove how remarkably trained they are, a passel of fitness fiends, from the attorney general on down, had hit the road for 50-mile jaunts.

Walking, an almost forgotten art in this motor-mad nation, suddenly became as important as goldfish swallowing once was.

So the Marine who falters now is in disgrace. And, alas, the guessing here Monday night was that some might fail.

A veteran sergeant, pleased to see his officers on trial, predicted that at least three will never finish.

Year-Around School Year in Ohio Proposed

'Trimester' System Would Give Greater Use of Buildings

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Three full school terms to encompass the entire school year and make better use of Ohioans' huge school investment is the aim of a bill introduced Monday night as the legislature began its sixth work week.

Pupils would attend two of the three "trimesters," by assignment, and teachers would instruct for either two or three of the annual sessions, at their option, under a plan offered by Reps. Walter E. Powell R-Butler; Sam Landes, R-Madison; Barry Levey, R-Butler, and Charles A. Mooney, D-Cuyahoga.

Powell, a school principal, advocated a similar plan two years ago, but it died after receiving approval of the House Education Committee.

The plan to make year-around use of school buildings would not be mandatory on local school boards. If the boards chose to experiment with the trimester plan, Powell and his co-sponsors suggest the year be split into three segments of about 80 school days each.

He said the plan would permit 50 per cent more pupils to use present school buildings over a year's time.

A major bill to be introduced today is a measure to prohibit unfair housing practices. It would prohibit refusal to sell, rent, lease, or transfer housing on grounds of race, color, religion, national origin or ancestry or refusal to negotiate for such purposes.

The measure also would bar a financial institution from inquiring into such matters and would ban publication of advertisements indicating any preference or limitation in the field.

Chief sponsor is Rep. David Albritton, R-Hamilton. Others are Reps. Stanley Aronoff, R-Hamilton; Carlton Davidson, R-Lawrence; A. G. Lancione, D-Belmont, and Carl Stokes, D-Cuyahoga.

Sen. Charles J. Carney, D-Mahoning, Monday night called for a study ending in 1965 looking toward a state income tax to replace the present 3 per cent state sales tax — the Ohio treasury's biggest money producer.

Chillicothe Publisher Dies at Age of 60

CHILLICOTHE, Ohio (AP)—W. E. Beeler, 60, president and treasurer of Chillicothe Newspapers, Inc., and publisher of the Chillicothe Gazette since 1952, died today in Chillicothe Hospital.

He has been hospitalized since suffering a heart attack Jan. 2.

Survivors include his widow, Doris, and two children, Mrs. John Apple of Chicago and John Beeler, a student. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

The sergeant hastily explained he wasn't doubting present-day officer material. What he was counting on, he said, was that some officers will have boots that are not well broken in and that blisters will take their horrible toll.

The rules of the road are simple. Each officer is on his own. He must twice circle a 25-mile course at any speed he desires and is free to stop at any or all of the three rest stops. But he must hobble across the finish line, with a sprint, if possible, within three days. And his actual walking time must not exceed 20 hours.

Thirty-one of the marchers are lieutenants and captains drafted for this unenviable chore. General Tompkins, Col. J. O. Bell and

Chief Justice Says World Lags in Improving Its Law

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—A world hastening to find a link with the future is lagging in efforts to improve the law which must rule these amazing discoveries, Chief Justice Earl Warren said today.

"The law lags behind until crisis stirs it into action," Warren said in an address to an audience of students and faculty at Georgia Tech's Alexander Memorial Coliseum.

He applauded Georgia Tech for the school's progress in science and technology, and said, "I wish that we had made comparable advances in my profession of the law."

Warren spoke at a ceremony commemorating the 75th anniversary of Georgia Tech, which desegregated in 1961. It was Warren's first visit into the Deep South since the U.S. Supreme Court issued its school desegregation ruling of 1954.

The chief justice arrived Monday night and left the airport under heavy security guard as posters calling for his impeachment were raised on private property in some sections of the city.

Nearly an Inch Of Snow Falls; More Expected

Nearly an inch of snow had fallen in the Circleville area at noon today, with more expected tonight and tomorrow.

Occasional light snow has been forecast tonight with temperatures plunging to about five degrees above zero. Continued cold tomorrow with more light snow flurries was also included in the outlook.

Many people are already beginning to look for the last snowfall of the season. The weatherman today offered "a word to the wise" by reminding the optimists that spring is several weeks away. He added that the last snowfall of 1962 fell on April 15.

Precipitation to date for 1963 is 1.71 inches behind the normal accumulation of 4.17 inches.

6 Ohio Cities Show Earnings Dip

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio State University's Bureau of Business Research reported today that Cincinnati and Dayton were the only major Ohio cities showing November-to-December gains in average weekly gross earnings. The other six metropolitan areas registered drops of 1 to 4 per cent.

The bureau said December earnings in Cincinnati were up 1 per cent from November, to $95.07, and up 3 per cent for Dayton for $117.09.

December earnings and losses for the other major cities were: Canton $105.07, and Toledo $106.10, both down 1 per cent; Akron, $108.80, and Youngstown, $105.06, both down 2 per cent; Columbus, $91.40, down 3 per cent, and Cleveland, $108.12, down 4 per cent.

Warren emphasized the close connection between science and the law. If science is to serve the peaceful purposes of mankind, "it must be given a peaceful setting in both domestic and world law," he declared.

"A society that is governed by law will not permit these great discoveries to be used for destructive purposes," he said. "A world without law is hell-bent for destructive discoveries."

He said the fact is that law has not kept abreast of science.

Dems Celebrate Lincoln's Day

White House Honors Late GOP President

WASHINGTON (AP)—Abraham Lincoln, the first Republican president in the White House, will be honored today by the present Democratic occupants with birthday party keyed to civil rights.

In advance of the party, President Kennedy will receive a special 250-page historians' report on the progress made in civil rights in the 100 years since Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation.

The President and his wife invited some 800 top officials and civil rights leaders from across the country to a buffet reception at the White House tonight but banned press coverage of the event.

This is the first such major social event at the White House during the Kennedy administration where no reporters have been allowed.

Asked why there was a press ban, except for a brief picture-taking session, presidential press secretary Pierre Salinger said some events at the White House were open to coverage and others were not.

Lincoln's birthday traditionally has been a Republican day of celebration with dinners and speeches sponsored by the GOP. There were some grumblings in the capital that Kennedy was trying to take the publicity edge off such events.

As usual, no announcement of the White House guest list was made in advance. It was indicated, however, that a number of Negro leaders of the desegregation fight had been invited, along with state officials and civil rights leaders from across the country.

Reporters were invited, however, to attend a 5 p.m. White House ceremony at which Kennedy will receive the progress report from his Commission on Civil Rights.

shape. But I would like for him to call me up and say: 'John, how would you like to walk 50 miles with me?' But I could do it in less than 17 hours."

Coulon, known as the Chicago Spider in his fighting days, and his tiny, sparkling Irish wife, Marie, have operated a tidy gym on Chicago's South Side for 40 years. Johnny is the instructor. Marie is the matchmaker. She has made well over 25,000 matches, amateur and professional.

"I don't think much of a crash physical fitness program," said Coulon. "It is something that should be practiced through life. "Today, while everybody else is catching a cab to go two or three miles, I walk. And not to save money. During a day in the gym,

"It is not that science is running away and endangering civilization. The real danger lies in the lack of a lawful world, and the absence of a world ordered under law which will negate the pressures to use scientific knowledge for destructive rather than for peaceful purposes."

A few hours before Warren arrived, an Atlanta physician was assured in state court that he had the constitutional right to display signs calling for Warren's impeachment. Twenty four such signs, 3½ by 7 feet, were erected on various private sites.

Some literature was distributed in the Georgia Legislature calling for Warren's impeachment, but most lawmakers dismissed it as "trash."

New A-Energy Coordinator Is Selected

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's new atomic energy coordinator is Edwin W. King of Columbus, a safety engineer with the State Industrial Commission since 1959.

George E. Wilson, industrial development director, announced at Gov. James R. Rhodes' press conference today that King will begin the $10,000-a-year job Monday. King is a native of Marion County.

Wilson said King will assist communities with nuclear facilities on such problems as zoning and police-fire protection.

He said a national concern is considering Ohio as a site for a pilot plant, linked with atomic energy, that could mean a large employment boost for the state.

Details can not be disclosed at this time, he added.

Such an industry, Wilson said, could take up the slack that might result if the atomic energy plant in Pike County ceases to operate in the next few years.

No halt in operations is contemplated at the Pike County plant, Wilson emphasized. But he said some scientists have advanced that possibility.

"So long as the Pike possibility exists, we want to be on top of the situation as it affects employment," the director said without elaborating.

The Portsmouth area gaseous diffusion plant near Piketon in Pike County is among 14 major atomic installations in Ohio. Initial cost was $750 million, and it employs 2,200 workers.

Tax Commissioner To Be Replaced

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Stanley J. Bowers of Ashville, veteran state tax commissioner, is on his way out.

Gov. James A. Rhodes said today he has several prospects under consideration to succeed Bowers. They include Rep. Gail W. Porterfield, R-Knox, and Gerald A. Donahue, of Columbus, first assistant to Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe. Rhodes declined to name the other prospects.

Downtown Lima Grocery Burns

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—Fire believed to have started in an office destroyed Pangle's Master Market No. 1 in downtown Lima today with a loss estimated by Vice President Ray Pangle at $600,000.

The one-story structure, which had 15,000 square feet of floor space, established in 1933, was the original unit in a chain of 18 supermarkets in the northwestern Ohio counties.

Co-manager Charles Stone said he and 10 other employees and a dozen customers were in the store when "flames were discovered coming out a wall of the office in the rear."

Court Order OKing Day Off Said Ignored

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A good many state employees reported for work today despite a permanent court injunction upholding the Lincoln and Washington birthday anniversaries as state holidays, Gov. James A. Rhodes says.

"An excellent turnout—100 per cent in some departments," Rhodes told a press conference. "There is a tremendous number of dedicated state workers."

His administration originally ordered employees to report for work today and Feb. 22—traditional holidays for state workers—without extra pay or compensating time off for the holidays.

But a Franklin County Common Pleas Court judge held that extra compensation is required unless employees work voluntarily. This was upheld Monday by the 10th District Court of Appeals in Columbus.

The administration continued an appeal for volunteers.

It was certain, though, that at least state liquor stores would be closed. Liquor Director Donald D. Cook said he did not hear from enough volunteers to risk opening the stores.

A spot check conducted after 8 a.m. indicated that virtually complete work forces were on hand in the central offices of the

Ike Shrugs At Critics of His Golfing

NEW YORK (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower says he paid not the slightest attention to criticism of the time he spent playing golf or going fishing or dabbling with paints.

Appearing Monday night with historian Bruce Catton in an NBC television program recorded at Eisenhower's Gettysburg, Pa., home on the subject of President Lincoln, Eisenhower said: "I think the worst possible president would be one who always just stayed at his desk."

Catton remarked that during the Civil War, Lincoln was criticized for allegedly spending too much time telling funny stories and going to the theater.

Eisenhower, agreed with Catton that Lincoln needed relaxation of some sort.

"The first thing that any man learns when he has to carry heavy responsibilities a long time, he has to learn those points and that type of decision that demand his earnest attention and sometimes preparation," Eisenhower commented.

"And the others he has to learn to avoid. He is no executive until he can delegate those to people and stand behind them."

Referring to criticism of his own leisure pursuits, Eisenhower said: "I paid not the slightest attention to it. As a matter of fact, I stopped reading that kind of thing. It didn't bother me for this simple reason: to be in condition—to do the things I needed to do—I just couldn't sit at the desk all the time."

The chief justice arrived Monday night and left the airport under heavy security guard as posters calling for his impeachment were raised on private property in some sections of the city.

Warren emphasized the close connection between science and the law. If science is to serve the peaceful purposes of mankind, "it must be given a peaceful setting in both domestic and world law," he declared.

"A society that is governed by law will not permit these great discoveries to be used for destructive purposes," he said. "A world without law is hell-bent for destruction with or without scientific discoveries."

He said the fact is that law has not kept abreast of science.

"It is not that science is running away and endangering civilization. The real danger lies in the lack of a lawful world, and the absence of a world ordered under law which will negate the pressures to use scientific knowledge for destructive rather than for peaceful purposes."

A few hours before Warren arrived, an Atlanta physician was assured in state court that he had the constitutional right to display signs calling for Warren's impeachment. Twenty four such signs, 3 1/2 by 7 feet, were erected on various private sites.

Some literature was distributed in the Georgia Legislature calling for Warren's impeachment, but most lawmakers dismissed it as "trash."

Dems Celebrate Lincoln's Day

White House Honors Late GOP President

WASHINGTON (AP) — Abraham Lincoln, the first Republican president in the White House, will be honored today by the present Democratic occupants with birthday party keyed to civil rights.

In advance of the party, President Kennedy will receive a special 250-page historians' report on the progress made in civil rights in the 100 years since Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation.

The President and his wife invited some 800 top officials and civil rights leaders from across the country to a buffet reception at the White House tonight but banned press coverage of the event.

This is the first such major social event at the White House during the Kennedy administration where no reporters have been allowed.

Asked why there was a press ban, except for a brief picture-taking session, presidential press secretary Pierre Salinger said some events at the White House were open to coverage and others were not.

Lincoln's birthday traditionally has been a Republican day of celebration with dinners and speeches sponsored by the GOP. There were some grumblings in the capital that Kennedy was trying to take the publicity edge off such events.

As usual, no announcement of the White House guest list was made in advance. It was indicated, however, that a number of Negro leaders of the desegregation fight had been invited, along with state officials and civil rights leaders from across the country.

Reporters were invited, however, to attend a 5 p.m. White House ceremony at which Kennedy will receive the progress report from his Commission on Civil Rights.

Adm. Dewey's Son Dies

CHICAGO (AP) — George Goodwin Dewey, 90, the only son of Adm. George Dewey, the hero of Manila Bay, died Monday. Dewey had been confined to a wheelchair since 1960 when he suffered a hip fracture in a fall.

New A-Energy Coordinator Is Selected

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's new atomic energy coordinator is Edwin W. King of Columbus, a safety engineer with the State Industrial Commission since 1958.

George E. Wilson, industrial development director, announced at Gov. James R. Rhodes' press conference today that King will begin the $10,000-a-year job Monday. King is a native of Marion County.

Wilson said King will assist communities with nuclear facilities on such problems as zoning and police-fire protection.

He said a national concern is considering Ohio as a site for a pilot plant, linked with atomic energy, that could mean a large employment boost for the state.

Details can not be disclosed at this time, he added.

Such an industry, Wilson said, could take up the slack that might result if the atomic energy plant in Pike County ceases to operate in the next few years.

No halt in operations is contemplated at the Pike County plant, Wilson emphasized. But he said some scientists have advanced that possibility.

"So long as the Pike possibility exists, we want to be on top of the situation as it affects employment," the director said without elaborating.

The Portsmouth area gaseous diffusion plant near Piketon in Pike County is among 14 major atomic installations in Ohio. Initial cost was $750 million, and it employs 2,200 workers.

Tax Commissioner To Be Replaced

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Stanley J. Bowers of Ashville, veteran state tax commissioner, is on his way out.

Gov. James A. Rhodes said today he has several prospects under consideration to succeed Bowers. They include Rep. Gail W. Porterfield, R-Knox, and Gerald A. Donahue, of Columbus, first assistant to Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe. Rhodes declined to name the other prospects.

Court Order OKing Day Off Said Ignored

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A good many state employees reported for work today despite a permanent court injunction upholding the Lincoln and Washington birthday anniversaries as state holidays, Gov. James A. Rhodes says.

"An excellent turnout—100 per cent in some departments," Rhodes told a press conference. "There is a tremendous number of dedicated state workers."

His administration originally ordered employees to report for work today and Feb. 22—traditional holidays for state workers—without extra pay or compensating time off for the holidays.

But a Franklin County Common Pleas Court judge held that extra compensation is required unless employees work voluntarily. This was upheld Monday by the 10th District Court of Appeals in Columbus.

The administration continued an appeal for volunteers.

It was certain, though, that at least state liquor stores would be closed. Liquor Director Donald D. Cook said he did not hear from enough volunteers to risk opening the stores.

A spot check conducted after 8 a.m. indicated that virtually complete work forces were on hand in the central offices of the (Continued on Page 2)

Ike Shrugs At Critics of His Golfing

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower says he paid not the slightest attention to criticism of the time he spent playing golf or going fishing or dabbling with paints.

Appearing Monday night with historian Bruce Catton in an NBC television program record of Eisenhower's Gettysburg, Pa., home on the subject of President Lincoln, Eisenhower said: "I think the worst possible president would be one who always just stayed at his desk."

Catton remarked that during the Civil War, Lincoln was criticized for allegedly spending too much time telling funny stories and going to the theater.

Eisenhower, agreed with Catton that Lincoln needed relaxation of some sort.

"The first thing that any man learns when he has to carry heavy responsibilities a long time, he has to learn those points and that type of decision that demand his earnest attention and sometimes preparation," Eisenhower commented.

"And the others he has to learn to avoid. He is no executive until he can delegate those to people and stand behind them."

Referring to criticism of his own leisure pursuits, Eisenhower said: "I paid not the slightest attention to it. As a matter of fact, I stopped reading that kind of thing. It didn't bother me for this simple reason: to be in condition—to do the things I needed to do—I just couldn't sit at the desk all the time."

Downtown Lima

Grocery Burns

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—Fire believed to have started in an office destroyed Pangle's Master Market No. 1 in downtown Lima today with a loss estimated by Vice President Ray Pangle at $600,000.

The one-story structure, which had 15,000 square feet of floor space, established in 1933, was the original unit in a chain of 18 supermarkets in the northwestern Ohio counties.

Co-manager Charles Stone said he and 10 other employees and a dozen customers were in the store when "flames were discovered coming out a wall of the office in the rear."

Red Disarmament Aide Seeks To End U.S. Bases Abroad

GENEVA (AP) — The 17-nation disarmament conference resumed today with a call from President Kennedy for a safeguarded nuclear test ban agreement that would sow confidence and trust among the nations. The Soviet Union promptly threw in a blockbuster.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov followed up Kennedy's message with a proposal that would deprive the United States of the use of foreign bases for its nuclear deterrent forces.

Kuznetsov's proposal — coming after U.S. and British expressions of optimism over a nuclear test ban — caught Western negotiators by surprise. The Soviet plan has no chance of acceptance by the Western powers.

The plan provides for an East-West treaty calling for a permanent ban on "the use of foreign territories for stationing strategic means of delivery of nuclear weapons."

Kuznetsov accompanied his proposal with an attack on nations that have established nuclear bases and other strategic nuclear bases on foreign territories "for the purpose of dealing a nuclear blow on vital centers of other states." This meant the United States.

The bases, he charged, "greatly aggravate the international situation and increase the war threat."

Kuznetsov repeated Moscow's position offering two or three on-site inspections a year in the Soviet Union under a test ban treaty. The U.S. position is that eight or 10 are needed. But he put most of his emphasis on the new Soviet proposal and his remarks on the test ban treaty contained no new element giving rise to hopes for an early pact.

Kennedy's message was read to the conference by the chief American disarmament negotiator, William C. Foster.

"The prospects of agreement on a test ban treaty now seem somewhat more encouraging than before because of the acceptance by the Soviet Union of the principle of on-site inspection."

But Kennedy stressed that the Soviet Union must show a genuine willingness to negotiate.

Foster told Kuznetsov that two or three inspections a year were not satisfactory.

He asked the Soviet Union to bargain on this point and on the number of black boxes—robot recording stations—which would be allowed on Russian soil.

Kuznetsov merely restated the old Russian position and displayed no trace of a willingness to compromise.

Court Order

Highway Department the Department of Industrial Development, the Department of Liquor Control, the Department of Agriculture, the Department of Natural Resources.

Salaried personnel were reporting for work in the 10 Highway Department divisions about the state.

Nelson Watkins, executive secretary of the Ohio Civil Service Employees Association, Monday advised workers to cooperate with Rhodes but only as a matter of principle and with the understanding that those who choose not to work will receive pay or compensatory time off if they work involuntarily.

Watkins described as illegal the work-as-usual administration order and added: "We seriously doubt the fiscal condition of this state is such that it must turn to gratuitous labor to operate."

Those thousands of layoffs of state employees in Ohio by the new Republican state administration, so far as the Civil Service Commission can determine, have not been in violation of the federal Hatch Act, a commission spokesman says.

The spokesman added Monday, however, that the commission based its finding solely on information supplied in a letter of protest from Democratic State Rep. Thomas P. Gilmartin. He said that if Gilmartin can supply additional information, the commission "certainly will continue to investigate."

Gilmartin's letter reportedly charged that some layoffs have been in violation of the Hatch Act because the salaries of affected employees were paid in part with federal funds.

An estimated 3,500 - 4,000 state workers have been removed from state payrolls since Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes took office Jan. 14. The move was described as an austerity campaign designed to bring the state's expenditures and income into balance.

The commission said it planned to advise Gilmartin in a letter today of its finding.

Ohio Woman in Peace Corps Likes Job in Hot Ivory Coast

DAEOU, Ivory Coast (AP)—In one afternoon, Marilyn Hartzell, 23, taught English for three hours, bandaged a houseboy who had cut his hand, and refreshed her snake-bite kit.

"I saw my first snake after five months in Ivory Coast," she confided.

Marilyn, of Adena, (Jefferson County) is a member of the Peace Corps and just about the biggest curiosity in Dabou.

"Go, see her, she is worth looking at," said the area's subprefect (administrator), Avit Bayoulou.

"We have seven schools here—and there is a school in every village in the area," Chief Bayoulou was saying in perfect French. "But go to the normal school (teachers' school). You've got to see the American girl there."

The campus of the teachers' school — barrack-like classrooms and dormitories—squatted on a green hill.

"Ah, oui, l'Americaine," said an attractive student in a white, flowing robe.

Miss Hartzell lives in a small bungalow, surrounded by tall, green grass. A petite, blue-eyed brunette, small feet with red toenails in leather sandals. Around the table in the living room sat six young Africans, their schoolbooks opened.

"They come here after classes," she said.

The three bookshelves were crowded with books on African Peace Corps literature. Her bedroom was next door, the bed covered with white mosquito netting. On the night-table, the latest circular from the local Peace Corps headquarters in nearby Abijan.

"For those with a velo (motor bike) or those receiving one shortly—no intercity travel without authorization. Also, no travel after dark," the memorandum said.

The school provided the furniture, the Peace Corps sent the dishes and the refrigerator.

"We are really well provided for," she said.

She teaches first, second and sixth year English to the Ivory Coast's future schoolteachers.

"They'll speak with an American accent," she said.

Miss Hartzell received a master's degree in African history from Johns Hopkins University in 1962 and joined the Peace Corps immediately after "to deepen my knowledge of Africa and profit from the travel opportunity."

For her work, she receives the equivalent of $180 in local currency plus a $75 deposit in the United States.

She cooks and shops herself, but like all teachers at the school—most of them French—she has a houseboy to clean and wash the dishes.

Officer Adams Resigns Post As Patrolman

Patrolman Donald Adams, a six-year veteran of the Circleville Police Department, has submitted his resignation.

Adams will leave the local force on Friday. Low pay was listed as one of his main reasons for quitting.

He plans to enter building and construction work at the present time. His main duty was handling desk operations on the day shift.

Adams first joined the department in May of 1955. He resigned in January of 1956, then rejoined the force in June of the same year.

POLICE Chief Robert Temple said he has no immediate plans for replacing Adams.

The resignation marks the second departure in four months. In November Patrolman Jay Curry resigned to take a job with a local industry.

Curry's post was filled by the return of former Patrolman Gerald Goldsberry. However, Adams' resignation will leave the department one short. Chief Temple noted that his staff is also under strength due to the illness of parking meter officer Nolan Dunkle.

Cuban Policy Critics Lashed By JFK Backers

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedy administration, under heavy fire from its political opponents, is striking back at Republican critics of its Cuban policies.

In the face of a fresh assault by GOP congressional leaders on "the inept conduct of our foreign affairs by the Kennedy administration," Sens. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont. and Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., have teamed to condemn what they called partisan and irresponsible charges.

Mansfield, the Democratic leader, pointed his guns at New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Sens. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y. and Hugh Scott, R-Pa. He told the Senate Monday that "irresponsible public utterances are playing dangerously with the fires of public emotion."

Humphrey called on Republicans to make certain that "a rash of charges that cannot be substantiated by facts do not find their way into this chamber" or into the newspapers.

"The people are worried, concerned and indeed confused because of so many conflicting reports," he said. He added that President Kennedy, the Defense Department and the Central Intelligence Agency "have been frank and candid" in disclosing Soviet military strength in Cuba.

Mansfield said Rockefeller was well informed on Latin American affairs, but, "I must confess that I looked in vain for a contribution worthy of him" in the governor's comments on Cuba.

Rockefeller has said the administration's disclosures about Cuba left many unanswered questions. He said that while Soviet soldiers and equipment there may not pose a military threat to the United States, they constitute a propaganda, subversive and possible military threat to other hemisphere nations.

Mansfield flatly denied — as Scott had suggested — that there was any deal between Soviet Premier Khrushchev and Kennedy for the removal of American missiles in Europe in exchange for the withdrawal of Soviet missiles in Cuba.

In a barb patently aimed at Keating, one of the most vocal critics of the administration, Mansfield told his colleagues he would be the last to suggest that members of Congress know less about matters pertaining to Cuba than the President, the Secretary of State and the Secretary of Defense.

"But I would suggest most respectfully," he said, "that the responsible course which helps rather than hurts the nation would be for these well-informed members to take their inside, unimpeachable information on Cuba to the appropriate departments at the same time that they take it to the press galleries."

Cincy Store Manager Loses Blue Law Fuss

CINCINNATI (AP) — The 3rd District State Appeals Court has handed Ben Schottenstein of Cincinnati a setback in his bid for a court order banning police from arresting him for Sunday sales violations. The Appeals Court Monday upheld Judge Simon Leis's Common Pleas Court ruling that the order was not proper.

Schottenstein contended his department store sold items exempt under the state blue laws and said his employees observed a Saturday Sabbath.

Shaw, Dick Take Posts on Fair Board

Richard Shaw, 568 N. Pickaway St., and Robert Dick, 341 E. Franklin St., have been appointed to fill posts on the Pickaway County Agricultural Society vacated by the death of Ralph E. May.

Shaw was named to assume May's office of treasurer. Dick was selected to fill a three-year director term held by the veteran Agricultural Society official who died Friday.

The two new Fair officials were named during a regular meeting of the Society last night.

In other business, directors approved a move to set up a regular date for the Society's annual meeting. The session will be held on the second Monday in December of each year.

New directors will be named during the annual meeting.

Williamsport Man Hurt in Accident

C. Ernest Hill, of Williamsport, was admitted to Berger Hospital last night following a one-car accident just east of Williamsport on Route 22.

The State Highway Patrol said Hill lost control of his vehicle and went off the left side of the road.

He received lacerations to his face and right leg. A passing motorist removed the injured man to the hospital.

Extensive damage was inflicted on Hill's auto.

Guardsman Transferred To New Jersey Base

OWU Chaplain Scheduled as Rotary Speaker

Dr. James S. Leslie, university chaplain at Ohio Wesleyan University, will be guest speaker at Thursday's regular meeting of the Circleville Rotary Club.

Dr. Leslie joined the staff of Ohio Wesleyan University in August 1960, after having served for three years as director of the Danforth Experiment and as associate professor of sociology at Dickinson College, Carlisle, Pennsylvania.

Previously, he had served as director of Harvard University's Wesley Foundation from 1955 to 1957 and as pastor of Hillside Methodist Church, Medford, Mass. (1952-55) and Lake Shore Park Methodist Church, Lynn, Mass. (1948-51). From 1946 to 1948 he was assistant pastor of St. Mark's Methodist Church, Brookline, Mass.

A native of Boston, Dr. Leslie is a graduate of DePauw University, where he held a Eugene Pulliam scholarship. He received his STB degree from Boston University School of Theology and his Ph.D. from Boston University Graduate School.

In 1951-52 he held a Rotary Foundation Fellowship for Advanced Study at the University of London.

DR. LESLIE is a member of the Association of College and University Ministers of the Methodist Church and was its treasurer for two years.

He and his wife are the parents of four daughters. They live at 253 N. Washington St., Delaware.

Leist emphasized that the repair job is not scheduled to start until Thursday. He said the work will be done at night, if possible, when water consumption is at a minimum.

Rhodes Aide Confident of Selling Bonds

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The administration's industrial developer expressed confidence today that buyers could be found for revenue bonds proposed to help finance factories for new jobs in Ohio.

"In my opinion, the bonds can be sold," George E. Wilson told the House Commerce and Transportation Committee at its first hearing on a bill to create an industrial development department.

The measure, Wilson asserted, would give Ohio "the most integrated program of the 50 states."

Gov. James A. Rhodes suggested the department as a vehicle to create 200,000 new jobs in the state.

Committee chairman Thomas Gindlesberger, R - Holmes, said Atty. Gen. William Saxbe has been asked to rule on constitutionality of the proposed bonds. The chairman also said experts would testify on merits of the bonds and their marketability.

Gindlesberger's observations followed questions by Rep. Thomas Gilmartin, D - Mahoning, and Rep. Walter White, R-Alen, about the bonds.

Stock Market Trading Slow

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market settled moderately lower early this afternoon in slow Lincoln's Birthday trading.

Scattered issues showed resistance to further decline and posted fractional gains. Losses of most key stocks were slight.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .9 at 255.2 with industrials off 1.3, rails off .8, and utilities off .3.

Semi holiday conditions prevailed in Wall Street. New York banks were closed in observance of Lincoln's birthday.

Motors, electrical equipments, rails, drugs electronics and aerospace issues showed a slightly lower trend. Chemicals, steels, tobaccos and oils were mixed.

In many instances, early losses of key stocks were cut, and in some cases erased entirely in favor of small gains.

no chance of acceptance by the Western powers.

The plan provides for an East-West treaty calling for a permanent ban on "the use of foreign territories for stationing strategic means of delivery of nuclear weapons."

Kuznetsov accompanied his proposal with an attack on nations that have established submarine and other strategic nuclear bases on foreign territories "for the purpose of dealing a nuclear blow on vital centers of other states."

This meant the United States. The bases, he charged, "greatly aggravate the international situation and increase the war threat."

Kuznetsov repeated Moscow's position offering two or three on-site inspections a year in the Soviet Union under a test ban treaty. The U.S. position is that eight or 10 are needed. But he put most of his emphasis on the new Soviet proposal and his remarks on the test ban treaty contained no new element giving rise to hopes for an early pact.

Kennedy's message was read to the conference by the chief American disarmament negotiator, William C. Foster. "The prospects of agreement on a test ban treaty now seem somewhat more encouraging than before because of the acceptance by the Soviet Union of the principle of on-site inspection."

But Kennedy stressed that the Soviet Union must show a genuine willingness to negotiate. Foster told Kuznetsov that two or three inspections a year were not satisfactory. He asked the Soviet Union to bargain on this point and on the number of black boxes — robot recording stations — which would be allowed on Russian soil.

Kuznetsov merely restated the old Russian position and displayed no trace of a willingness to compromise.

Court Order

(Continued from Page 1) Highway Department the Department of Industrial Development, the Department of Liquor Control, the Agriculture Department, the Personnel Department and the Department of Natural Resources.

Salaried personnel were reporting for work in the 10 Highway Department divisions about the state. Nelson Watkins, executive secretary of the Ohio Civil Service Employees Association, Monday advised workers to cooperate with Rhodes but only as a matter of principle and with the understanding that those who choose not to work will receive pay or compensation time off if they work involuntarily.

Watkins described as illegal the work-as-usual administration order and added: "We seriously doubt the fiscal condition of this state is such that it must turn to gratuitous labor to operate."

Those thousands of layoffs of state employees in Ohio by the new Republican state administration, so far as the Civil Service Commission can determine, have not been in violation of the federal Hatch Act, a commission spokesman says.

The spokesman added Monday, however, that the commission based its finding solely on information supplied in a letter of protest from Democratic State Rep. Thomas P. Gilmartin. He said that if Gilmartin can supply additional information, the commission "certainly will continue to investigate."

Gilmartin's letter reportedly charged that some layoffs have been in violation of the Hatch Act because the salaries of affected employees were paid in part with federal funds.

An estimated 3,500 - 4,000 state workers have been removed from state payrolls since Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes took office Jan. 14. The move was described as an austerity campaign designed to bring the state's expenditures and income into balance.

The commission said it planned to advise Gilmartin in a letter to day of its finding.

Lawyer Tied To Bogus Bill

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — A Youngstown attorney and three others were arrested Monday night and charged with possessing and passing of counterfeit bills. Vincent P. Serman, 37, the lawyer, was charged with possessing a bogus $10 bill.

Serman and Lenine Strollo, 31, of Campbell, were arraigned today before U.S. Commissioner Henry Robinson and held on $25,000 bond each for a preliminary hearing March 1.

Strollo and Nick Zappia, 48, were charged with possession of a counterfeit $10 bill. Robert Armstrong, 19, son of a Youngstown policeman, was charged with passing counterfeit money.

2 Men Accused Of Cincy Holdup

CINCINNATI (AP) — Pursuit by police through northwest Cincinnati streets ended Monday night with capture of two men identified as robbers who took a service station attendant along as hostage.

The two were identified as Arthur D. Powell, 30, and Richard Maynard, 32, both of Cincinnati. No charges were filed immediately.

Detectives said the service station worker Lamar Arnett, 41, identified the two as the bandits who robbed him of $128 and threatened to kill him after forcing him to ride with them.

Police said they recovered $128 in bills from the two and found a revolver and three sets of license plates in their car.

Athens Countian Held In Brother's Death

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Darrel Pierce, 50, has been bound over to the grand jury without bond on a first-degree murder charge in the fatal shooting of his brother, Loren, 54.

Loren was shot Saturday, and Darrel pleaded innocent and innocent by reason of insanity Monday.

Ohio Woman in Peace Corps Likes Job in Hot Ivory Coast

DABOU, Ivory Coast (AP) — In one afternoon, Marilyn Hartzell, 23, taught English for three hours, bandaged a houseboy who had cut his hand, and refreshed her snake-bite kit.

"I saw my first snake after five months in Ivory Coast," she confided.

Marilyn, of Adena, (Jefferson County) is a member of the Peace Corps and just about the biggest curiosity in Dabou.

"Go, see her, she is worth looking at," said the area's subprefect (administrator), Avit Bayoulou.

"We have seven schools here — and there is a school in every village in the area," Chief Bayoulou was saying in perfect French. "But go to the normal school (teachers' school). You've got to see the American girl there."

The campus of the teachers' school — barracks-like classrooms and dormitories — squatted on a green hill.

"Ah, oui, l'Americaine," said an attractive student in a white, flowing robe.

Miss Hartzell lives in a small bungalow, surrounded by tall, green grass. A petite, blue-eyed brunette, small feet with red toenails in leather sandals. Around the table in the living room sat six young Africans, their schoolbooks opened.

"They come here after classes," she said.

The three bookshelves were crowded with books on African Peace Corps literature. Her bedroom was next door, the bed covered with white mosquito netting. On the night-table, the latest circular from the local Peace Corps headquarters in nearby Abijan.

"For those with a veto (motor bike) or those receiving one shortly — no intercity travel without authorization. Also, no travel after dark," the memorandum said.

The school provided the furniture, the Peace Corps sent the dishes and the refrigerator. "We are really well provided for," she said.

She teaches first, second and sixth year English to the Ivory Coast's future schoolteachers. "They'll speak with an American accent," she said.

Miss Hartzell received a master's degree in African history from John Hopkins University in 1962 and joined the Peace Corps immediately after "to deepen my knowledge of Africa and profit from the travel opportunity."

For her work, she receives the equivalent of $180 in local currency plus a $75 deposit in the United States.

She cooks and shops herself, but like all teachers at the school — most of them French — she has a houseboy to clean and wash the dishes.

Stock Market Trading Slow

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market settled moderately lower early this afternoon in slow Lincoln's Birthday trading.

Scattered issues showed resistance to further decline and posted fractional gains. Losses of most key stocks were slight.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off 9 at 255.2 with industrials off 1.3, rails off .8 and utilities off .3.

Semi-holiday conditions prevailed in Wall Street. New York banks were closed in observance of Lincoln's birthday.

Motors, electrical equipments, rails, drugs electronics and aerospace issues showed a slightly lower trend. Chemicals, steels, tobaccos and oils were mixed.

In many instances, early losses of key stocks were cut, and in some cases erased entirely in favor of small gains.

After classes, she helps students with English.

"They come to me all the time. I am more pleased with the progress they're making than I ever was with my students in the States."

She has been to a Saturday night dance in the village but just looked, did not dance. "I was told it was not recommended for a single, white girl."

After the two-year stint in the Peace Corps, she will try to get a doctor's degree — in African affairs, of course.

"I am really, perfectly happy," she said earnestly.

OWU Chaplain Scheduled as Rotary Speaker

Dr. James S. Leslie, university chaplain at Ohio Wesleyan University, will be guest speaker at Thursday's regular meeting of the Circleville Rotary Club.

Dr. Leslie joined the staff of Ohio Wesleyan University in August 1960, after having served for three years as director of the Danforth Experiment and as associate professor of sociology at Dickinson College, Carlisle, Pennsylvania.

Previously, he had served as director of Harvard University's Wesley Foundation from 1955 to 1957 and as pastor of Hillside Methodist Church, Medford, Mass. (1952-55) and Lake Shore Park Methodist Church, Lynn, Mass. (1948-51). From 1946 to 1948 he was assistant pastor of St. Mark's Methodist Church, Brookline, Mass.

A native of Boston, Dr. Leslie is a graduate of DePaul University, where he held a Eugene P. Sullivan scholarship. He received his STB degree from Boston University School of Theology and his Ph.D. from Boston University Graduate School.

In 1951-52 he held a Rotary Foundation Fellowship for Advanced Study at the University of London.

DR. LESLIE is a member of the Association of College and University Ministers of the Methodist Church and was its treasurer for two years.

He and his wife are the parents of four daughters. They live at 253 N. Washington St., Delaware.

Flu-Like Ailment Cuts Cincy School Turnout

CINCINNATI (AP) — An influenza-like ailment has cut further into attendance at schools in greater Cincinnati with an increase in pupils and teachers reported sick.

Cincinnati school officials reported 10 to 26 per cent of students in various schools were absent Monday due to illness, while 256 teachers had similar ailments.

Officer Adams Resigns Post As Patrolman

Patrolman Donald Adams, a six-year veteran of the Circleville Police Department, has submitted his resignation.

Adams will leave the local force on Friday. Low pay was listed as one of his main reasons for quitting.

He plans to enter building and construction work at the present time. His main duty was handling desk operations on the day shift.

Adams first joined the department in May of 1955. He resigned in January of 1958, then rejoined the force in June of the same year.

POLICE Chief Robert Temple said he has no immediate plans for replacing Adams.

The resignation marks the second departure in four months. In November Patrolman Jay Curry resigned to take a job with a local industry.

Curry's post was filled by the return of former Patrolman Gerald Goldsberry. However, Adams' resignation will leave the department one short. Chief Temple noted that his staff is also under strength due to the illness of parking meter officer Nolan Dunkle.

Shaw, Dick Take Posts on Fair Board

Richard Shaw, 508 N. Pickaway St., and Robert Dick, 341 E. Franklin St., have been appointed to fill posts on the Pickaway County Agricultural Society vacated by the death of Ralph E. May.

Shaw was named to assume May's office of treasurer. Dick was selected to fill a three-year director term held by the veteran Agricultural Society official who died Friday.

The two new Fair officials were named during a regular meeting of the Society last night.

In other business, directors approved a move to set up a regular date for the Society's annual meeting. The session will be held on the second Monday in December of each year.

New directors will be named during the annual meeting.

Williamsport Man Hurt in Accident

C. Ernest Hill, of Williamsport, was admitted to Berger Hospital last night following a one-car accident just east of Williamsport on Route 22.

The State Highway Patrol said Hill lost control of his vehicle and went off the left side of the road. He received lacerations to his face and right leg. A passing motorist removed the injured man to the hospital.

Extensive damage was inflicted on Hill's auto.

Guardsman Transferred To New Jersey Base

Pvt. Dale E. Bower, son of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Bower, Route 1, has been transferred to Ft. Dix, N.J., with the Ohio National Guard.

Bower, a graduate of Pickaway Twp. High School is serving six months of active duty with the ONG unit. He was formerly stationed at Ft. Knox, Ky., where he began his six months of training November 9, 1962.

Cuban Policy Critics Lashed By JFK Backers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Kennedy administration, under heavy fire from its political opponents, is striking back at Republican critics of its Cuban policies.

In the face of a fresh assault by GOP congressional leaders on "the inept conduct of our foreign affairs by the Kennedy administration," Sens. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., and Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., have teamed to condemn what they called partisan and irresponsible charges.

Mansfield, the Democratic leader, pointed his guns at New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Sens. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., and Hugh Scott, R-Pa. He told the Senate Monday that "irresponsible public utterances are playing dangerously with the fires of public emotion."

Humphrey called on Republicans to make certain that "a rash of charges that cannot be substantiated by facts do not find their way into this chamber" or into the newspapers.

"The people are worried, concerned and indeed confused because of so many conflicting reports," he said. He added that President Kennedy, the Defense Department and the Central Intelligence Agency "have been frank and candid" in disclosing Soviet military strength in Cuba.

Mansfield said Rockefeller was well informed on Latin American affairs, but, "I must confess that I looked in vain for a contribution worthy of him" in the governor's comments on Cuba.

Rockefeller has said the administration's disclosures about Cuba left many unanswered questions. He said that while Soviet soldiers and equipment there may not pose a military threat to the United States, they constitute a propaganda, subversive and possible military threat to other hemisphere nations.

Mansfield flatly denied — as Scott had suggested — that there was any deal between Soviet Premier Khrushchev and Kennedy for the removal of American missiles in Europe in exchange for the withdrawal of Soviet missiles in Cuba.

In a barb patently aimed at Keating, one of the most vocal critics of the administration, Mansfield told his colleagues he would be the last to suggest that members of Congress know less about matters pertaining to Cuba than the President, the Secretary of State and the Secretary of Defense.

"But I would suggest most respectfully," he said, "that the responsible course which helps rather than hurts the nation would be for these well-informed members to take their inside, unimpeachable information on Cuba to the appropriate departments at the same time that they take it to the press galleries."

Cincy Store Manager Loses Blue Law Fuss

CINCINNATI (AP) — The 3rd District State Appeals Court has handed Ben Schottenstein of Cincinnati a setback in his bid for a court order banning police from arresting him for Sunday sales violations. The Appeals Court Monday upheld Judge Simon Leis's Common Pleas Court ruling that the order was not proper.

Schottenstein contended his department store sold items exempt under the state blue laws and said his employees observed a Saturday Sabbath.

Federal Reserve Chief Seen Brake On Huge Deficit

NEW YORK (AP)—In this banking center of the nation the re-naming of William McChesney Martin Jr. as head of the Federal Reserve System is seen as a sign the Kennedy administration will try for a middle course in financing its bid for added growth in the economy.

Keeping Martin on as chairman of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System may help calm those who predict dire results from plunging the nation further in the red. The federal debt may go beyond $320 billion, compared with today's $303 billion.

The financial community counts on Martin to fight to keep the methods used in the added Treasury borrowing as noninflationary as possible.

The first responsibility will be

'Perry Mason' Feels Great After Surgery

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "It was something of a miracle," said Raymond Burr. "I haven't felt so good in 20 years."

Burr had returned to his six-year stand as television's Perry Mason. He was back after a serious operation which required four weeks of guest stars to sub in for him.

The actor was operated on a few weeks ago for intestinal polyps, and he has been quoted as saying that he was cancerous. However, he has declined any further statements beyond declaring that he was fortunate in all regards.

"If you do have a growth, you are lucky to have it in the intestinal region," he remarked. "If you have it on the liver or some other vital organ, you're in trouble. But with the intestine only some of the troubled area needs to be snipped out and you're OK."

"My doctors tell me I am completely recovered. I am convinced. The operation not only removed the growth; it also made some corrective measures that have put me in better condition than I have known for years."

Burr's problem began in his boyhood.

"First came an appendectomy when I was young," he said. "The appendix burst when I was sailing up a river, and it was nine hours before I got to a hospital. Later I had to have another operation to cure an obstruction caused by scar tissue."

"I always got it in the same place. I was wounded there when I was at Okinawa. That's how I first got fat: Lying on my back for nine months in a naval hospital."

Lausche Decries New School of Economics

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans should beware of "this 1963 school of economists" who claim a tax cut without a reduction in federal spending will spur the economy, Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, says.

"We are primarily in need of tax reform aimed at producing a system of taxation which will restore incentives for investments and remove the present provisions deterring our economic growth," the senator added in a statement Monday.

the Treasury's—what kind of borrowing, and at what terms, Secretary Douglas Dillon will seek. But the Fed is charged with maintaining an orderly market for government securities, along with its other chores of keeping enough money and credit available in the banking system for business needs for current activities and for financing expansion.

The Treasury and the Fed also will have to work together, and with central banks of other nations, if the U.S. international payments deficit is to be held in bounds or, hopefully, reduced.

Martin's tenure as head of this nation's central banking system has won him the confidence of most of the financial community—entirely of President Kennedy, faced with fiscal problem in promoting his economic growth plans.

The former president of the New York Stock Exchange is on record as feeling that flooding the economy with money isn't a good way to sustain economic growth. In fact, Martin says, "The domestic liquidity of our banks and our economy in general is now so high that still further monetary stimulus would do little if any good."

He cites "the danger that too rapid domestic monetary expansion would eventually produce rising domestic costs and prices" and a twin "danger that too easy domestic credit availability and too low borrowing costs would encourage capital outflows" of American dollars to foreign financial markets.

The system Martin heads is made up of 12 reserve banks, each representing a section of the nation. Their stocks are owned by member banks and the return is limited to an annual 6 per cent each reserve bank adds to its surplus any amount needed to bring its surplus to twice the par value of its outstanding stock, and turns over the remainder to the federal government.

The Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond notes that in 1961 gross earnings of the 12 came to $945 million. Of this, interest from government securities made up $938 million, profits from sales of securities added $4 million, and earnings on discounts and advances to member banks came to $3 million. The 12 had current expenses of $161 million, paid out $26 million as dividends on their stocks, added $71 million to surpluses, and turned over $687 million to the federal government.

Within limits set by Congress, the Federal Reserve System determines how large a reserve member commercial banks in various sized cities must maintain against their deposits. It sets the interest charge on loans it can make members.

The Fed fixes the margin for stock buying—how much a buyer must put up in cash, how much he can borrow.

And of buying or selling government securities in the open market the Fed can influence the ease or tightness of the money market. It can thus provide its member banks with more funds to lend, or with less, as the economy's fiscal needs seem to dictate.

All these powers can have a lot to do with the course of the economy. Martin's conservative bent pleases that part of the financial community which fears growing Treasury deficits and government spending could revive inflation and feed speculation to the detriment of the dollar's good name.

Discrimination In Ohio Housing Hit in Study

State Commission Urges Assembly To Enact Stiff Laws

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The day before Lincoln's Birthday, the Ohio Civil Rights Commission has issued a report verifying widespread discrimination in housing and calling for counteraction by the 105th General Assembly.

The commission, basing its report on 15 hearings held in 12 cities last May and June, declared what some have said all along:

"There exists throughout Ohio a consistent pattern whereby Negroes, and other minority groups, are denied free choice in housing."

The commission concludes that "the problem of discrimination in housing and its effect on the general welfare of the state requires the passage of legislation comparable to the magnitude of the problem."

It finds, and asks a halt to, discriminatory practices by real estate brokers and salesmen, builders and developers, owners, lessors, financing institutions and in some cases political subdivisions.

The commission also calls for statutes against advertising which specifies racial restrictions on purchase or rental of property.

All forms of real estate should be open to all races, the commission says, with these exceptions: Rental of a dwelling providing accommodations for two families if one of the units occupied is the household of the owner; and the rental of rooms to non-family persons in single family dwellings.

The report cites two case studies brought out in last year's hearings.

The commission commends the experiment by antisegregationist citizens which brought about a 60-40 division of whites and Negroes in the Ludlow school zone of previously restricted Shaker Heights. But it relates with dismay how hard a time Negro civilian employees of the Air Force had finding adequate housing when they were transferred to the new Air Force station at Heath, near Newark.

"Those Negro technicians," says the report, "who have been able to obtain adequate shelter in reasonable proximity to the Heath plant, have found accommodations in or near Granville (thanks to some Denison University faculty members' help)."

"Others are still searching. Most of these persons are highly trained professionals, many with graduate degrees, with income in excess of many home owners in the Newark area. Yet because of their race, they are denied equal access to housing accommodations."

Europe at Crossroads

Some on Continent See U.S. Presence There as Menace

EDITOR'S NOTE—Is President de Gaulle stirring up resentment of U.S. policies in Europe? AP correspondent William L. Ryan found some answers on a trip to Paris, London, Bonn and Brussels. This is the second of four articles on the Common Market, NATO, the ideal of European unity—and what they mean to Americans.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

LONDON (AP)—There are vocal and influential people in Western Europe who regard the American presence on the continent as more of a menace than a blessing.

The Brussels explosion at the end of January, when France slammed the door to Europe in Britain's face, has tended in some quarters to increase irritation with the United States.

The British government's careful policy, keeping its anger in check after Brussels, has kept a thumb in the European dike, holding back at least for the time being a tide of resentments.

These could rip Europe asunder, sharpen conflicts and lead toward a thing called continentalism. That suggests less reliance on the United States and a Europe for Europeans.

The germ of such a development is there, nurtured by French President de Gaulle's outspoken suspicions of and resistance to Washington.

There is a curious blending of right-wing conservative views with those of the far left regarding the U.S. role in Europe.

In England, for example, certain articulate forces were relieved when France's veto kept Britain out of the six-nation Common Market. They saw Britain at a disadvantage as part of an integrated Europe. They prefer something like an enlarged EFTA (European Free Trade Association) without surrender of economic sovereignty.

Things will be tough now for Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's conservative supporters. There had been 15 months of negotiations, with all the agonizing uncertainty, before the door was slammed.

Britain will have a general election before October 1964, and if the government is overturned, the whole picture of Britain's attitude toward the Common Market can be changed radically.

Maurice Macmillan, House of Commons member and son of the prime minister, says he sees no alternative to eventual British membership in an integrated Europe as part of an Atlantic community. He told me the British face a difficult, if not critical, two or three years in which they will have to tighten up all along the line, reduce tariffs and put up stiffer competition for markets. It will not be easy for Britain, struggling with manifold problems, including an unemployment figure which has reached 800,000.

This concept of Britain's future attitude toward the Common Market will meet stiff resistance. One spokesman for the right-wing Tory group is Viscount Hinchinbrooke the earl of Sandwich. He led a revolt against Common Market membership with the campaign cry that it would betray British interests and make Britain too subservient to the United States. This line was powerful enough to deprive the Conservatives of a once safe House of Commons seat in a special election last November.

Lord Hinchinbrooke, an amia peer who does not consider himself anti-American, told me he finds deep unease in Britain about the United States. He says people should forget about the menace of Communism, "wake up and see that the United States has done us harm, while the Russians have not." But, he complained, Britain's foreign office is tied tightly to U.S. policy.

There is latent anger in Britain about this, he said. He pointed to U.S. policy during the Suez crisis in 1956, U.S. recognition of the revolutionary Yemen Government in the Middle East where British interests are threatened, and the U.S. attitude in the Congo—where, he says, Washington policy threatens Katanga's neighbor, British-ruled Rhodesia.

He says Russia is not menacing as it was 10 years ago, when British-American domination of Europe made sense. Fears of Russia have diminished, he insists, making the united integrated Europe concept out of date.

This is close to the view of French President Charles de Gaulle. Without being great admirers of De Gaulle, influential people in England, France and elsewhere say Europe should act on her own in approaching Moscow not wait for the U.S. to lead. This, they say, is not sponsorship to a third force but an attempt to be more independent.

These still appear to be minority views. There remains a great backlog of pro-American sentiment in Europe, pronounced in West Germany, Italy, the low countries and Britain. But implicit in development of the independent Europe idea is the possibility that new anti-Americanism will grow in England and on the Continent.

On the Continent, some elements approve De Gaulle's twitting of the United States. Should the Common Market collapse from strains induced by the January events, Europe could drift more and more away from the United States and toward De Gaulle's European bloc view.

Hot Reception in Capital Awaits Negro Congressman

WASHINGTON (AP) — When Adam Clayton Powell returns to Washington from sunny Puerto Rico he is liable to find the capital can be just as warm—even in winter.

For the Democratic chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee will have to face the wrath of his committee colleagues, the scorn of a senator and the displeasure of the administration.

Powell, 53, who is equally at home in the pulpit of the Negro Baptist church he heads in New York City, the political clubs of Harlem, and the plush night clubs of two continents, has managed to outrange the sensibilities of an impressive number of people in the past.

A combination of charm, gall and pride has enabled him to act as if he couldn't even hear their angry cries. Now that he has stirred up so many antagonists at once, these traits may not be enough to keep out the rising din of criticism.

The soft voice of Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., rising from the Senate floor, has spoken loudest, calling Powell an authority on "adult delinquency," criticizing his trip abroad with two "lady friends" at government expense and questioning the propriety of several government financial transactions favorable to Powell.

The muttered comments of Education and Labor Committee members, who feel he has now outdone himself in shirking responsibility, could prove far more wounding to the prideful Powell.

Potentially most threatening of all to his continued jaunty progress through the House is the still unspoken feeling of some members that Powell is bringing all Congress into disrepute and must be curbed.

His latest troubles began last week. On Monday everything seemed fine. Powell energetically opened an announced two weeks of hearings on President Kennedy's big education bill, fulfilling a promise made to the administration to get right to work on the important measure.

On Tuesday he disappeared.

There is no way of knowing if he had learned Williams was going to take the Senate floor that day. However, Powell's favorite method of dealing with such problems has been to make himself unavailable to the press. At any rate, he flew to his home in Puerto Rico, where a spokesman said Sunday night he was just resting and talking to no one.

It may be that Powell deserted the hearings because he has little sympathy for the administration's decision to wrap 24 major education proposals into one super-bill with a $5.3-billion price tag and dump it in his lap with orders to consider it as one measure.

Whatever the reason, his absence caused the badly divided, leaderless committee to come apart at the seams, nearly wrecking the hearings and further diminishing the already slim chances for the bill, much to the administration's distress.

The tallest tree in the world is now believed to be a 368-foot California redwood in Humboldt County, Calif. The new champion of trees, as yet unnamed, tops the Founders Tree which lost 17 feet in a storm a few years ago.

Federal Reserve Chief Seen Brake On Huge Deficit

NEW YORK (AP)—In this banking center of the nation the re-naming of William McChesney Martin Jr. as head of the Federal Reserve System is seen as a sign the Kennedy administration will try for a middle course in financing its bid for added growth in the economy.

Keeping Martin on as chairman of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System may help calm those who predict dire results from plunging the nation further in the red. The federal debt may go beyond $320 billion, compared with today's $303 billion.

The financial community counts on Martin to fight to keep the methods used in the added Treasury borrowing as noninflationary as possible.

The first responsibility will be

'Perry Mason' Feels Great After Surgery

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "It was something of a miracle," said Raymond Burr. "I haven't felt so good in 20 years."

Burr had returned to his six-year stand as television's Perry Mason. He was back after a serious operation which required four weeks of guest stars to sub in for him.

The actor was operated on a few weeks ago for intestinal polyps, and he has been quoted as saying that they were cancerous. However, he has declined any further statements beyond declaring that he was fortunate in all regards.

"If you do have a growth, you are lucky to have it in the intestinal region," he remarked. "If you have it on the liver or some other vital organ, you're in trouble. But with the intestine only some of the troubled area needs to be snipped out and you're OK."

"My doctors tell me I am completely recovered. I am convinced. The operation not only removed the growth; it also made some corrective measures that have put me in better condition than I have known for years."

Burr's problem began in his boyhood. "First came an appendectomy when I was young," he said. "The appendix burst when I was sailing up a river, and it was nine hours before I got to a hospital. Later I had to have another operation to cure an obstruction caused by scar tissue."

"I always got it in the same place. I was wounded there when I was at Okinawa. That's how I first got fat: Lying on my back for nine months in a naval hospital."

Lausche Decries New School of Economics

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans should beware of "this 1963 school of economists" who claim a tax cut without a reduction in federal spending will spur the economy, Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, says.

"We are primarily in need of tax reform aimed at producing a system of taxation which will restore incentives for investments and remove the present provisions deterring our economic growth," the senator added in a statement Monday.

the Treasury's—what kind of borrowing, and at what terms, Secretary Douglas Dillon will seek. But the Fed is charged with maintaining an orderly market for government securities, along with its other chores of keeping enough money and credit available in the banking system for business needs for current activities and for financing expansion.

The Treasury and the Fed also will have to work together, and with central banks of other nations, if the U.S. international payments deficit is to be held in bounds or, hopefully, reduced.

Martin's tenure as head of this nation's central banking system has won him the confidence of most of the financial community—entirely of President Kennedy, faced with fiscal problem in promoting his economic growth plans.

The former president of the New York Stock Exchange is on record as feeling that flooding the economy with money isn't a good way to sustain economic growth. In fact, Martin says, "The domestic liquidity of our banks and our economy in general is now so high that still further monetary stimulus would do little if any good."

He cites "the danger that too rapid domestic monetary expansion would eventually produce rising domestic costs and prices" and a twin "danger that too easy domestic credit availability and too low borrowing costs would encourage capital outflows" of American dollars to foreign financial markets.

The system Martin heads is made up of 12 reserve banks, each representing a section of the nation. Their stocks are owned by member banks and the return is limited to an annual 6 per cent each reserve bank adds to its surplus any amount needed to bring its surplus to twice the par value of its outstanding stock, and turns over the remainder to the federal government.

The Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond notes that in 1961 gross earnings of the 12 came to $945 million. Of this, interest from government securities made up $938 million, profits from sales of securities added $4 million, and earnings on discounts and advances to member banks came to $3 million. The 12 had current expenses of $161 million, paid out $26 million as dividends on their stocks, added $71 million to surpluses, and turned over $687 million to the federal government.

Within limits set by Congress, the Federal Reserve System determines how large a reserve member commercial banks in various sized cities must maintain against their deposits. It sets the interest charge on loans it can make members.

The Fed fixes the margin for stock buying—how much a buyer must put up in cash, how much he can borrow.

And of buying or selling government securities in the open market the Fed can influence the ease or tightness of the money market. It can thus provide its member banks with more funds to lend, or with less, as the economy's fiscal needs seem to dictate.

All these powers can have a lot to do with the course of the economy. Martin's conservative bent pleases that part of the financial community which fears growing Treasury deficits and government spending could revive inflation and feed speculation to the detriment of the dollar's good name.

Discrimination In Ohio Housing Hit in Study

State Commission Urges Assembly To Enact Stiff Laws

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The day before Lincoln's Birthday, the Ohio Civil Rights Commission has issued a report verifying widespread discrimination in housing and calling for counteraction by the 105th General Assembly.

The commission, basing its report on 15 hearings held in 12 cities last May and June, declared what some have said all along: "There exists throughout Ohio a consistent pattern whereby Negroes, and other minority groups, are denied free choice in housing."

The commission concludes that "the problem of discrimination in housing and its effect on the general welfare of the state requires the passage of legislation comparable to the magnitude of the problem."

It finds, and asks a halt to, discriminatory practices by real estate brokers and salesmen, builders and developers, owners, lessors, financing institutions and in some cases political subdivisions.

The commission also calls for statutes against advertising which specifies racial restrictions on purchase or rental of property.

All forms of real estate should be open to all races, the commission says, with these exceptions: Rental of a dwelling providing accommodations for two families if one of the units occupied is the household of the owner; and the rental of rooms to non-family persons in single family dwellings.

The report cites two case studies brought out in last year's hearings.

The commission commends the experiment by antisegregationist citizens which brought about a 60-40 division of whites and Negroes in the Ludlow school zone of previously restricted Shaker Heights. But it relates with dismay how hard a time Negro civilian employees of the Air Force had finding adequate housing when they were transferred to the new Air Force station at Heath, near Newark.

"Those Negro technicians," says the report, "who have been able to obtain adequate shelter in reasonable proximity to the Heath plant, have found accommodations in or near Granville (thanks to some Denison University faculty members' help).

"Others are still searching. Most of these persons are highly trained professionals, many with graduate degrees, with income in excess of many home owners in the Newark area. Yet because of their race, they are denied equal access to housing accommodations."

Europe at Crossroads

Some on Continent See U.S. Presence There as Menace

EDITOR'S NOTE—Is President de Gaulle stirring up resentment of U.S. policies in Europe? AP correspondent William L. Ryan found some answers on a trip to Paris, London, Bonn and Brussels. This is the second of four articles on the Common Market, NATO, the ideal of European unity—and what they mean to Americans.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

LONDON (AP)—There are vocal and influential people in Western Europe who regard the American presence on the continent as more of a menace than a blessing.

The Brussels explosion at the end of January, when France slammed the door to Europe in Britain's face, has tended in some quarters to increase irritation with the United States.

The British government's careful policy, keeping its anger in check after Brussels, has kept a thumb in the European dike, holding back at least for the time being a tide of resentments.

These could rip Europe asunder, sharpen conflicts and lead toward a thing called continentalism. That suggests less reliance on the United States and a Europe for Europeans.

The germ of such a development is there, nurtured by French President de Gaulle's outspoken suspicions of and resistance to Washington.

There is a curious blending of right-wing conservative views with those of the far left regarding the U.S. role in Europe.

In England, for example, certain articulate forces were relieved when France's veto kept Britain out of the six-nation Common Market. ## Pupil Injury Case Carried To High Court

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Appeal from a $25,000 award to a high school student injured in a bus accident reached the Ohio Supreme Court today.

The Loudonville-Mansfield Bus Line, Inc., appealed from the award by lower courts to Larry Smallstey, who was 17 when the accident occurred Jan. 18, 1959, at Five-Points north of Mansfield.

Smallstey, a student at Mansfield Senior High School, was a paying passenger on the bus making the round trip to Sandusky with 38 others for a basketball game. He suffered leg and ankle injuries in the collision of the bus and a car operated by Terry Oyster on the return trip. The bus line claimed Oyster was negligent in attempting to pass the bus on a slippery highway at night.

A golfer injured on the Nanakiki Golf and Country Club course in Lake County appealed to the Supreme Court from refusal of lower courts to grant damages for injuries.

Alfred Burens was hurt in a fall off a golf cart operated by a club member on July 26, 1958. Burens claimed brakes on the cart failed to work on a downgrade.

Foreign Aid Cut

A presidential study group has concluded what many have long suspected: Foreign aid spending can be substantially reduced in the future without affecting the national security or the political and economic stability of the non-communist world.

The group also believes the U. S. should relate military and economic aid more directly to the important security interests of this country, in which most Americans will concur.

The main purpose in recent years of foreign aid has been to win friends and influence governments. Perhaps the best commentary on how this has worked out in practice is that France has received more aid than any other government.

The presidential group does not recommend a cut in next year's foreign aid, but in the future. That has been heard time and again.

Anyway, for the future it recommends the "phasing out" of relatively unimportant commitments and terminal dates for all new arrangements entered into.

Matter of Definition

"Yes," said the student, "but Batista was corrupt."

The statement, delivered with an air of assurance, was a variation on a familiar theme. Fifteen years ago it was Chiang Kai-shek who was "corrupt." And before that it was the government of the Czar.

Well, one can hardly deny that the followers of Batista made a good thing for themselves out of Cuba, or that Chiang's officials had their methods of exacting "squeeze," or that Rasputin had an unholy influence at the Russian Imperial court. But the truly interesting thing about Batista was its implied narrow definition of the word "corruption."

In almost any older dictionary you will find that "corruption" means (a) decay, or (b) depravity, or (c) impurity, or (d) bribery. But modern political usage has pretty much eliminated the first, second and third meanings of the word. To the present-day student of political science, "corruption" means only one thing: it is what happens in capitalist countries when insiders use bribery or pressure to feather their own nests. It is never — or hardly ever used to describe what happens in a nation since Marxist or totalitarian statist of one sort or another get control of a government in the name of the people.

The student who took off on the subject of Batista's "corruption" was by no means a supporter of

"Fidelismo." But it had obviously never occurred to him that, under the older, wider definition of corruption, Castro is far more reprehensible than the dictator he has supplanted. When the Cuban Information Service reports that Castro's firing squads have killed 6,000 since last August, it is certainly "corruption" in the sense that it represents "depravity" and "impurity." That is, it represents "depravity" if the Mosaic injunction against murder has the same force as the other prohibitions enumerated in the Ten Commandments. It also represents "decay" for the nation can't handle political dissidents without killing them. It has suffered an egregious lapse from all civilized standards of debate.

In Mao Tse-tung's China, the corruption of bribery may no longer be an issue. But when peasant families are deprived of their bits of land and herded into agricultural communes, it certainly comes under the heading of theft. Again, this is corruption in the sense that it represents a decay of civilized standards.

Moreover, Mao Tse-tung's government has not been sparing of human life. Artificially induced starvation is surely a form of murder, and this comes under the heading of "depravity" or "impurity."

The popular image of dictators like Castro and Mao Tse-tung is that, whatever else you may say about them, they are Puritanical when it comes to rejecting bribes. But so was that bloody monster of the French revolutionary epoch Robespierre, who was called the "sea-green incorruptible" by Thomas Carlyle. Robespierre climbed to power over mountainous piles of corpses. He was just about as depraved and impure a political monster as the world has ever known. Thus, he was "corrupt" in the wider, older meaning of the term, even though he may have been a Puritan when it came to money temptations. Castro and Mao Tse-tung are Robespierres of the modern age — and in comparison to them the "corrupt" Batista and the "corrupt" Chiang Kai-shek are almost lily-white.

In the annals of the Russian Revolution you will not find descriptions of a "corrupt" Stalin. Yet this man who robbed banks to raise money for the Communist revolutionary cause was corrupt under every meaning of the word. When he ordered the elimination of three million peasants in order to saddle the Soviet nation with a collectivized agriculture, he was acting in a "depraved" and "impure" manner. Corruption? The business stank to high heaven.

The moral is: let's not shrink the usage of perfectly good words. It keeps us from making valid moral and political judgments about a host of corrupt enemies who have sworn to bury us.

anything from a small package to a new sofa—I work vigorously getting ready for it. The house gets a better cleaning than if my husband's boss were coming to dinner.

IN HIS LIFE STORY, "Much Ado About Me," the late Fred Allen noted, "In the old vaudeville days, even lifelong friends got on each other's nerves when they had worked too long together. I remember one day in Cleveland when my old partner Bert Yorke followed me into my dressing room. He had on a red nose and funny facial make-up, was wearing a dirty street-cleaner's helmet, a yellow rubber cape with a large sponge, posing as a chrysanthemum, in its lapel, had soiled spats over a pair of big tennis shoes, and was carrying a cane, the ferrule of which reposed in a large rubber plunger. Thus arrayed, he roared at me, and I quote, 'Allen, I ain't going to be no straight man for nobody!'"

A whimsical teacher asked her class, "Would you say that 'trousers' is singular or plural?" Bright boy Pulsifer answered promptly, "Both: singular at the top and plural at the bottom."

Guide to Better Health

By HARRY J. JOHNSON, M. D.

Too many people these days are so conscious of the food they eat — or won't eat! — that I think they are doing themselves a distinct disservice. There is no doubt in my mind that adequate nutrition is indispensable to a sense of well-being emotional as well as physical.

If I had to confine all the fundamentals of sound nutrition to a single sentence, I would put it this way: Eat what you like if it agrees with you, as long as you maintain a balanced diet and your weight is kept within normal limits. A balanced diet is one that each day includes some or all of the foods that are essential to the maintenance of our body.

Carbohydrates. A fair amount of carbohydrate is vital for every diet. Carbohydrates supply the food most easily assimilable for quick energy. In the digestive process carbohydrates are broken down and changed into simple glucose. The blood absorbs the glucose, which is then changed into glycogen and stored in the muscle tissue and liver. Later, when we need heat and energy for the body the glycogen is readily reconverted to glucose and "burned up" by the body machine.

Mostly carbohydrates come from vegetables and fruits scarcely at all in the animal foods.

The outstanding carbohydrate vegetable is the well-known "starchy" potato. In addition to carbohydrate, it contains small amounts of other essentials.

Fats. Pound for pound, fat contains twice as many calories as carbohydrates. This means that fat can provide twice the heat and energy of an equal amount of carbohydrate food; conversely, it only takes half as much fat as carbohydrate to supply a given quantity of heat and energy.

The usual animal fats are the solid fats and are found in butter, cream, meat, egg yolk. The vegetable fats, found mostly in seeds and nuts, are almost always in the form of oil.

Fats are utilized as a source of energy only after most of the carbohydrate is used up. Thus when even a small excess of fat is taken regularly, the result may be a gradual but definite accumulation of fat on the hips and elsewhere.

Proteins. The most essential of all foods are those containing fair amounts of protein. Like carbohydrates and fats, proteins can supply the body with its needed fuel for energy. But growth and repair of body tissues are absolutely dependent upon the protein foods.

Unlike fats and carbohydrates, the body does not store a reserve supply of protein. Therefore, while we may occasionally eliminate fat and carbohydrate in our diet by choice or accident, should make every effort to eat some protein foods every day.

The best source of protein is in meat, fish, eggs and milk products. In vegetables the best sources of proteins are the cereal grains (wheat rye, and oats) and the legumes (peas, beans and lentils).

Vitamins and minerals. If when all is said and done, you adhere to a routine diet containing carbohydrates, fats, and proteins, you will obtain all the vitamins and minerals necessary for your healthful well-being.

EIGHT CHILDREN PERISH IN FIRE — Toronto, Ont., firemen carry the canvas-wrapped body of one of eight children who died in an early morning fire believed caused by an overheated electric kettle. The children were the entire family of Mr. and Mrs. Roy French. All the bodies were found in beds.

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP)—Three things business would like to do without as the first quarter of 1963 nears its half way point:

1. Continuation of generally nasty weather over much of the nation that has mixed up production, transportation and retail sales.

2. Labor strife that has been unusually bitter in several industries and that has tied up, or threatens to tie up, important segments of the economy.

3. Uncertainty in Washington, both as to possible legislation on Capitol Hill and disquieting predictions from various agencies as to what lies ahead if such and such is or isn't done.

Winter weather will pass, although not soon enough for many businessmen who have suffered damages either to property or to production and sales.

Labor strife seems particularly bitter this year because in an increasing number of cases it has been getting down to new fundamentals—labor's fear of automation and management's fear of rising costs that seem to defy curbing efforts. Stalemates and compromises seem to postpone rather than settle basic disputes.

Some of the strikes that have been ended leave scars. The dock strike is over but the New York piers still hold a tangle of cargo. And ships still await a chance to reach wharves.

Official uncertainty is dramatized in the battle over tax cutting. One debate is over who should get the biggest cut, the lower-income brackets where consumer spending presumably would be spurred, or corporations and higher-bracket individuals where funds would be put to work for the economy.

Equally bitter is the fight over the closing of loopholes. The joy of lower tax rates can be dispelled for those who see their favorite deductions menaced or trimmed. Arguments on either side will grow louder as Congress opens hearings.

A further worry for some is that tax cuts will only increase the immediate Treasury deficits. Administration assurances that the cuts will speed up the economy to a point where tax collections will rise and erase the early deficits fall on deaf ears in many parts of the financial community.

To those critics inevitable inflation seems the more likely future result.

Spring will settle some of today's worries. Outdoor jobs will open up. Sales of many seasonal products will increase. Congress will get around to really considering some legislation proposals. Maybe some of the international uncertainties will be resolved.

But in mid February the economic outlook often is a gloomy as the latest weather forecast.

Dear Editor:

I am just one of the many friends of Carter L. Conrad.

He was loved by many and disliked by very few. And hated? No one can say that Carter did them so great a harm that they hated him.

Many tears were shed and many friends stood in the cold before they lowered him into the grave. Carter may have had many little faults, but he was good to everyone.

I, along with many of his friends am signing a paper asking people to stop and think before they drink and drive. We also would like to have reader opinion on slowing the speed limit of trains to 10 to 20 miles per hour when they pass through our city.

Nobody but God knows whose fault it was that Carter and his two companions were killed in the car-train accident.

We cannot question God's will, but we can and do question man's. We say our last good-bye to Carter Conrad, but perhaps we'll all meet again.

Foreign Aid Cut

A presidential study group has concluded what many have long suspected: Foreign aid spending can be substantially reduced in the future without affecting the national security or the political and economic stability of the non-communist world.

The group also believes the U. S. should relate military and economic aid more directly to the important security interests of this country, in which most Americans will concur.

The main purpose in recent years of foreign aid has been to win friends and influence governments. Perhaps the best commentary on how this has worked out in practice is that France has received more aid than any other government.

The presidential group does not recommend a cut in next year's foreign aid, but in the future. That has been heard time and again.

Anyway, for the future it recommends the "phasing out" of relatively unimportant commitments and terminal dates for all new arrangements entered into.

Matter of Definition

By John Chamberlain

"Yes," said the student, "but Batista was corrupt."

The statement, delivered with an air of assurance, was a variation on a familiar theme. Fifteen years ago it was Chiang Kai-shek who was "corrupt." And before that it was the government of the Czar.

Well, one can hardly deny that the followers of Batista made a good thing for themselves out of Cuba, or that Chiang's officials had their methods of exacting "squeeze," or that Rasputin had an unholy influence at the Russian Imperial court. But the truly interesting thing about the student's pronouncement on Batista was its implied narrow definition of the word "corruption."

In almost any older dictionary you will find that "corruption" means (a) decay, or (b) depravity, or (c) impurity, or (d) bribery. But modern political usage has pretty much eliminated the first, second and third meanings of the word. To the present-day student of political science, "corruption" means only one thing: it is what happens in capitalist countries when insiders use bribery or pressure to feather their own nests. It is never — or hardly ever used to describe what happens in a nation since Marxist or totalitarian statist of one sort or another get control of a government in the name of the people.

The student who took off on the subject of Batista's "corruption" was by no means a supporter of

"Fidelismo." But it had obviously never occurred to him that, under the older, wider definition of corruption, Castro is far more reprehensible than the dictator he has supplanted. When the Cuban Information Service reports that Castro's firing squads have killed 6,000 since last August, it is certainly "corruption" in the sense that it represents "depravity" and "impurity." That is, it represents "depravity" if the Mosaic injunction against murder has the same force as the other prohibitions enumerated in the Ten Commandments. It also represents "decay" for the nation can't handle political dissidents without killing them. It has suffered an egregious lapse from all civilized standards of debate.

In Mao Tse-tung's China, the corruption of bribery may no longer be an issue. But when peasant families are deprived of their bits of land and herded into agricultural communes, it certainly comes under the heading of theft. Again, this is corruption in the sense that it represents a decay of civilized standards.

Moreover, Mao Tse-tung's government has not been sparing of human life. Artificially induced starvation is surely a form of murder, and this comes under the heading of "depravity" or "impurity."

The popular image of dictators like Castro and Mao Tse-tung is that, whatever else you may say about them, they are Puritanical when it comes to rejecting bribes. But so was that bloody monster of the French revolutionary epoch Robespierre, who was called the "sea-green incorruptible" by Thomas Carlyle. Robespierre climbed to power over mountainous piles of corpses. He was just about as depraved and impure a political monster as the world has ever known. Thus he was "corrupt" in the wider, older meaning of the term, even though he may have been a Puritan when it came to money temptations. Castro and Mao Tse-tung are Robespierres of the modern age — and in comparison to them the "corrupt" Batista and the "corrupt" Chiang Kai-shek are almost lily-white.

In the annals of the Russian Revolution you will not find descriptions of a "corrupt" Stalin. Yet this man who robbed banks to raise money for the Communist revolutionary cause was corrupt under every meaning of the word. When he ordered the elimination of three million peasants in order to saddle the Soviet nation with a collectivized agriculture, he was acting in a "depraved" and "impure" manner. Corruption? The business stank to high heaven.

The moral is: let's not shrink the usage of perfectly good words. It keeps us from making valid moral and political judgments about a host of corrupt enemies who have sworn to bury us.

Always Last on Fix-It List

By JOY STILLEE

(For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP)—I've yet to test the statement that a watched pot never boils. But I can say with certainty that any delivery man or repair man I start watching for in the morning never appears till the middle of the afternoon.

Surely they show up bright and early at somebody's house, but so far that somebody hasn't happened to be me. No matter how often I change my address, my place on every service man's route seems to remain the same — at the end.

The worst part of it is that because no repair man worthy of his tools will ever commit himself beyond "sometime between 8:30 in the morning and late in the afternoon" I don't dare leave the premises for a moment.

Of course this waiting game never happens to be played on a day that's so unpleasant you wouldn't even want to see the income tax man out in it. No—the day is always the first sunny one of the week, with a big sale on at the supermarket besides.

If I'm expecting a delivery—

anything from a small package to a new sofa—I work vigorously getting ready for it. The house gets a better cleaning than if my husband's boss were coming to dinner.

The news has just come out — this year the colors in men's business suits will be much lighter, featuring pastel shades of tan, gray and blue. That's enough to make any conservative executive turn pale!

At that, gayer colors should make everyone happy — except the guy who has just invested in a complete set of duds in charcoal gray!

As for sports clothes — they'll have a "boating" look, we read. So a guy can make like a yachtsman, even if he can't afford even a canoe?

One Italian men's footwear stylist has come out with shoes with built-in spats. If you're old enough, you'll remember that stuff went out just when the Charleston was coming in.

A shot of liquor really doesn't make one warmer, according to a health columnist. No such a hot idea, after all?

The dragonfly has 30,000 eyes—nature item. That, suggests Zaddock Dumkopf, should make it the perfect pedestrian.

Material suitable for manufacture into use as clothing can be made of waste paper — Factographs. Life cycle of a birthday gift tie — from trash basket to trash basket.

I really don't expect the delivery man to insist on a room-by-room inspection, but I want to be sure the quick glance he gets impresses him with my good housekeeping.

It's just as well that none so far has requested a formal tour. By the time my neatly uniformed visitor arrives, every room is littered with coats, school books, empty coffee cups, half-eaten peanut butter sandwiches and neighborhood kids.

I guess I should be grateful, though, for the fix-it men who will at least tell me what day I will have the honor of their presence.

We recently tried to pin an electronics expert down as to when he might be willing to give our electric organ a checkup. He couldn't name the exact day because he had to await other calls in our area.

He finally showed up all right — right in the middle of a dinner party we were giving.

WSCS Circle 3 Members Meet

Circle No. 3 of WSCS of First Methodist Church met last night in the home of Mrs. Robert Johnson, 585 Woodlawn, with Mrs. Richard Hartranft and Mrs. Charles Wellman as assisting hostesses.

Mrs. Irvin Reid, chairman, opened the meeting by reading a part of Abraham Lincoln's second inaugural address which he gave 100 years ago.

Mrs. Betty Doughett gave the devotion as well as the study topic, "Ideas of Prejudice."

The following announcements were read: an invitation from Hedges Chapel to attend their annual George Washington Tea from 2-4 p. m. Feb. 23; The First Methodist Church will be open all day Ash Wednesday for quiet meditation; World Day of Prayer will be held at St. Philip's Episcopal Church Mar. 1.

During the social hour appropriate refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Meeting Postponed

The meeting of Circle No. 3 of Trinity Lutheran Church scheduled for 9:30 a. m. tomorrow in the home of Mrs. Carl Zehner, 131 E. Mound St., has been postponed for one week, at which time they will meet in the home of Mr. Zehner at 9:15 a. m.

TONY AND BRIDE — Actor Tony Curtis, 37, and his bride, German actress Christine Kaufmann, 18, pose in Las Vegas following their wedding at the Hotel Riviera. They met in Argentina a year ago while making the movie, "Taras Bulba." It is the second marriage for Curtis, first for the bride.

Dear Abby: Strike Him Out for Awhile!

by Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am 20 and have been engaged to a boy my age for the past year. He plays in four bowling leagues and besides that he bowls ja-l-pots after league twice a week. He never takes me anywhere except to the bowling alley and sometimes I have sat through twenty games a night. We set our wedding date for April, but the more I think of it the more I think he should settle down before we get married. All he wants to talk about is bowling. I wonder if you think he would be a good guy to marry?

Young Folks Choose Comfy Modern Rugs

By ELEANOR ROSS

Is there a rug, a nice comfy one, on the floor of the children's room? If not, your youngsters may be secretly longing for one.

Surveys taken in the home furnishings field show that children in the 7-to-11 age group prize something soft and pretty on the floor.

When asked what type of furnishings they would like to have—how they would decorate their own rooms if they could do the planning—a remarkable number of the children started by specifying rugs.

This is an interesting sidelight on what has been for some time now the modern approach to children's rooms.

Mothers have tended to choose the kind of durable floor covering that could be mopped clean in two minutes flat. The general premise has been no clutter, nothing superfluous in the children's living quarters and never mind what the kids think!

But now that such a delightful variety of pretty throw rugs is available, there's no need to be so adamant about floor coverings.

The new rugs are washable, which makes them as practical as they are pretty. In and out of the washing machine they go with ease and emerge as lovely as when new.

According to the survey, even little boys like rugs, although in some cases it is for reasons other than decorative.

For instance, one little lad explained that he wanted a throw rug on his floor because he could pile it up and make mountains for his toy soldiers—which, after all, is a good reason in itself!

Little girls have a yen for the soft and fluffy small rug, which not only looks pretty but feels good underneath bare feet.

Pink, blue and white are the colors voted most desirable to live with, proving it's the young who are conservative!

Guild 38 Slates Meet

Berger Hospital Guild No. 38 will meet 8 p. m. Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Robert Wilson, 1060 Sunshine St.

Members are reminded to bring pennies for the sunshine fund.

16-pound bowling ball to it. Your young man is much too bowling-happy for marriage at the moment. Marry him only if you plan to start out with plenty of strikes against you.

DEAR ABBY: Suddenly one of my closest girl friends started acting very cool and distant to me. Twice I asked her what the trouble was. After two frigid "nothings" I realized it was ME she was mad at. Her coolness continued so I finally apologized for anything I might have done wrong. I honestly haven't the faintest idea how I offended her. She continues to treat me like a stranger and I can't understand it as she has always been a very thoughtful and understanding person. What can I do to patch things up?

MISERABLE
DEAR MISERABLE: Nothing! You have over-estimated the girl. No truly "thoughtful and understanding" person would suddenly give a friend the cold shoulder without telling her why and giving her a chance to defend herself.

DEAR ABBY: When a girl asks a boy to a party, is she supposed to pick up the boy, or should he pick her up? Or should they just meet there? Many girls would like to know.

CONFUSED
DEAR CONFUSED: When a girl invites a boy to a party, she is merely asking HIM to be her escort. The boy always calls for the girl.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "THINK YOU'RE A PHONY": Sorry, but everyone who has ever written to me and enclosed a self-addressed, stamped envelope for my personal reply has received one.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Low Calorie Snack Treats

By ALICE DENHOFF

In some sections of this vast, wonderful land, weather keeps folks housebound or near a cozy warm fire.

That's the time for catching up on reading, or postponed chores and, of course, looking at television.

And that means snacks—especially if the snacks aren't fattening!

So here are some snacks planned around low-calorie, tangy, tasty pickles. Even non-calorie counters will make for these.

PICKLE CHEESE ROUNDS

1/2 c. cream-style cottage cheese
1 tbsp. chili sauce
1/4 tsp. celery seed
1/4 tsp. salt

12 sweet, fresh cucumber pickle slices, drained
12 melba toast rounds

Combine cottage cheese, chili sauce, celery seed and salt; mix well.

Arrange pickle slices on toast rounds; top with cottage cheese mixture.

PICKLE CARROT SNACKS

2 c. carrot curls (about 2 large carrots)
1 c. sliced sweet gherkins (about 1/2 inch thick)

2 tbsp. low calorie French style salad dressing
Wrap carrot curls around pickle slices; secure with picks.

Dip in salad dressing.

SPICY BRAUNSCHWEIGER SPREAD

1/2 lb. Braunschweiger sausage
1/2 c. chopped sweet mixed pickles
2 tbsp. sour cream
2 tbsp. catsup
1 tsp. horseradish
2 tsp. prepared mustard

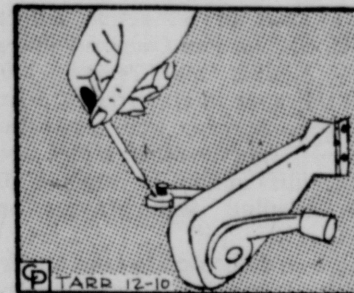

Dash cayenne
Mash sausage.

Add rest of ingredients, mixing thoroughly.

Use as spread for crackers or toast cut-outs.

Makes about 2 c. spread.

Visit by Lincoln To Ohio Recalled

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—It was 102 years ago Wednesday—the day after his birthday anniversary, and as President-elect, that Abraham Lincoln visited Ohio.

The date of his visit, to Columbus, was Feb. 13, 1861. Then he was en route to Washington for his inaugural.

The Ohio Historical Society says the "pomp and brittle" ceremony of the President-elect's visit was in sharp contrast to his return four years later, a martyr, slain by actor John Wilkes Booth.

Lincoln stopped here at the invitation of Gov. William G. Dennison Jr., for an address to the joint session of the Ohio General Assembly. He had asked: "Please arrange no ceremonies which will waste time," since the country was in turmoil and the Union divided.

He spent something like 18 hours here. The program began with his arrival at 2 p.m. and included a parade down High Street, a reception in the governor's office and the brief address.

His party included Mrs. Lincoln and their three sons. They stayed overnight with Gov. Dennison and left Columbus the next morning at 8 a.m. Their route to Washington took them to Pittsburgh and back to Cleveland before leaving Ohio for Pennsylvania.

Lincoln's return to Columbus in his funeral train was on April 29, 1865, and the body was en route for entombment in Springfield, Ill. The body, on that day, lay in the Statehouse rotunda for "nine solemn hours on a soft April day."

The funeral train had come to Columbus from Cleveland.

"At every town along the line—Berea, Grafton, Wellington, Crestline, Mount Gilead, Cardington, Worthington, and all the others—crowds stood beside bonfires to see the train pass," according to the late Robert S. Harper, student of Lincoln, in "during two journeys," published by the Ohio Lincoln Sesquicentennial Committee and the society in 1959.

Harper's sources say the reverence in which the populace held the slain President was manifest by the 8,000 persons per hour who passed the coffin and this "continued for more than six hours."

At the Columbus services, "there was a prayer and a hymn choir. An oration by Job E. Stevenson of Chillicothe required a quarter of an hour . . . The ceremony ended with signing of an ode written by William Cullen Bryant.

300 House Bills Introduced; Approximately 1,500 Expected

By REP. ED WALLACE

So far 300 House Bills have been introduced in the current Legislative session.

The final date for introduction of bills has not been set as yet. A total of 1,500 bills are expected in the House. This week there are 56 to be heard by different committees.

Here is a rundown of my committee meetings for the week:

Bossa Nova Is Almost New Dance

CINCINNATI (AP)—If you think the Bossa Nova is the new dance step, you're almost right.

Members of the Ohio Dance Masters Association spent Sunday learning new steps in a mass group of 150 at teaching sessions, and Bossa Nova was there.

"It's just about the latest thing," said Bill Deformato of New York, who was doing the teaching. "It was the latest until a few days ago and then something called the Ay-Bo-Le started in Canada."

"That's the problem with teaching the latest step—you've got to be quick or you're too late."

However, if you stick to the old Fox Trot, you're in good company, according to another teacher, Skip Randall of New York.

He said, "It's still the most popular with adults and youngsters. Of course we're talking about dances, not movements." Randall classed as movements all the gyrations associated with rock 'n' roll music—the Twist, Hully-Gully, Slop, Mashed Potato, Watuti, Waddle and Chicken scratch.

State Education Board Studies Austerity Plan

No Essential Services To Be Cut, Finance Director Is Informed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The State Board of Education has heard a report by Instruction Supt. E. E. Holt on the effect reductions in state expenditures have had on the Education Department.

Board members also received Monday proposals for a broad school improvement program including urgent goals to be achieved by 1970.

Referring to an across-the-board cut of 9.1 per cent in operating costs of state departments, Holt said the order will mean reduced expenditures of $389,872 for his department in the last half of the fiscal year ending June 30.

He added, however, that he was advised by Finance Director Richard Krabach that no cuts were to be made in essential services.

Twenty-four personnel originally were dropped from the department's payroll, but 12 have been restored because their services were judged essential, Holt said.

The improvement program, prepared by a board committee, was submitted to the board for adoption after seven months of preparation.

Among other things, it called for increasing from 240 to 500 the minimum size for senior high schools "where topography and density of population permit," widespread experimentation in instruction, and a post high school public education program which includes vocational, technical and adult programs.

In other business the board decided on a study of a proposal to ask Atty. Gen. William Saxbe to file a brief in an action before the U. S. Supreme Court involving Bible reading and reciting the Lord's Prayer in classrooms. John Morrison, Aurora, who made the proposal, said 19 other states are taking this action in support of Bible reading and prayers in school.

The board decided to take another look at transfer policies involving earlier decisions on municipal annexations in Lorain and Butler counties.

One earlier action denied a request by the city of Lorain to transfer portions of the Vermillion, Amherst and Firelands districts to the Lorain City District. Lorain Solicitor Edward Conley urged reconsideration, saying the city had induced the Ford Motor Co. to locate a large plant in the territory and said educational advantages for children were involved.

The Butler county case, reopened at the request of board member Ray Kimmey, Dayton, involves refusal of the board last July to transfer territory valued at $300,000 from the Fairfield Local to the city of Hamilton following annexation for municipal purposes.

Failure to make the transfer, Kimmey said, appears to have

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Russians and his critics are baffling President Kennedy. He can't get the Russians out of Cuba and he can't get the critics to shut up about it.

This can get worse before it gets better if the Russians put their mind to it and find more places to put more troops, which would be playing tit-for-tat with the United States, a game this country hasn't liked so far.

The Republicans giped at Kennedy toward the end of his first year in office after he had spent most of his time hopping from one serious foreign problem to another.

Kennedy, who seems to be imitating former President Eisenhower in not trying to take the skin off his critics personally, sort of rolled with the punches and kept his popularity high, as Eisenhower did. Kennedy got some more last year.

Now once again the Republicans and some Democrats, are on Kennedy's back, this time about the presence of the Soviet troops in Cuba.

Monday Republican leaders in Congress teamed up to denounce the administration's conduct of foreign affairs, claiming it is causing anti-Americanism abroad.

Kennedy, beginning to show more sensitivity to attacks although not enough yet to do any real fighting, hit at his critics indirectly last week through Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara in a way unparalleled in American history.

He put McNamara and an aide on television for two hours, complete with photographs of Cuba, to tell the public the Soviet troops and weapons there were not, at least now, a direct threat to any area in the Western Hemisphere.

It didn't quiet the critics. Now—particularly the Republicans—they're making more noise than ever. This leaves Kennedy with an exasperating question:

"If I can't convince people of what I say after this performance how can I do it?"

One way might be to go to the people and after the critics himself. A head-on brawl, however, seems contrary to his political philosophy, although he may come to it if he feels he's being made a political punching bag.

blocked Hamilton's chances for industrial expansion and he added that tax questions also have come up.

A board committee and Holt's staff were instructed to review transfer policies since some decisions appear to require consideration of industrial needs as well as needs of school districts.

In other actions, the board: —Delayed until the next meeting a recommendation that the charters of Chauncey, Dover Exempted Village, Glouster Exempted Village, Ames-Bern, Carthage-Troy, The Plains, Rome-Canaan, Shade, Trimble-Jackson and Waterloo high schools, all of Athens County be revoked for failure to meet minimum standards.

—Approved a division of funds resulting from territory transfer whereby the Hamilton city schools will pay $26,236 to Ross Local, Butler County.

Meanwhile the critics, clamoring for the removal of the Russians from Fidel Castro's feudal fief are a little short on solutions themselves.

An American invasion would be the very surest way to eliminate the Russians from Cuba, but no one is suggesting that. They're on Castro's island with his approval, and any attack on them would probably mean war with Russia.

Kennedy was willing to risk war to force the Russian missiles out of Cuba last fall because, he said, they were a total menace. But a war would hardly be justified to get rid of troops who, he says, are not a menace.

About the best he can do is dicker with Premier Khrushchev who may be keeping his troops in Cuba in order to force Kennedy to dicker.

All of this may amuse the Russian as he watches Americans, outraged by the presence of Soviet troops in their backyard, show very little taste for the medicine they forced on the Russians so long.

This country has ringed Russia with men and bases, some of them even closer to the Russian areas of interest than the Soviet troops in Cuba are to the United States—for example the American men and weapons in West Germany, just across the border from Russia's satellite, Communist East Germany.

As the Russians get stronger and more confident this country doesn't want nuclear war except as a last resort, Khrushchev may try some of what he did in Cuba, but somewhere else.

This could be hazardous. But Khrushchev might think it very useful if he felt the United States would be willing to make swaps to stop the Soviet encroachments, like pulling back American troops and bases if the Russians did the same.

FIXED UP — Convicted basketball fixer Jack Molinas was sentenced to 10 to 15 years in prison on charges of bribery, conspiracy and perjury. New York State supreme court justice Joseph Sarafite characterized Molinas as a "completely immoral person."

Cage Fixer Gets Sentence

NEW YORK (AP)—Jack Molinas, a tall, handsome ex-basketball star who once reportedly boasted he'd never be implicated, faces a jail term of 10 to 15 years today for masterminding a $70,000 fix of college basketball games.

"In my opinion, you are a completely immoral person. You are the prime mover of the conspiracy and you were the person most responsible. You callously used your prestige as a former basketball star to corrupt college basketball players and to defraud the public," Judge Joseph A. Sarafite of State Supreme Court told Molinas, 30, in passing sentence Monday.

The sentencing of the 6-foot-6 former Columbia University star and Fort Wayne professional player, along with two confessed bribers, was hailed by Walter Byers, executive director of the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

"We are indebted to the energies and efficiency of the law enforcement agencies of New York and appreciate of the attitude of the court itself," Byers said.

Sentenced with Molinas, who was convicted Jan. 8 on five counts of bribery, were Joseph Hacken, 42, of New York, and Philip LaCort, 39, of Boston. Hacken, described as Molinas' chief lieutenant in the plot to fix 43 games between 1957 and 1961, was sentenced to 7½ to eight years. LaCort, who pleaded guilty to fronting for a Boston gambling group, received 2½ to five years.

Aaron Wagman, 29, of New York, who had pleaded guilty to bribing nine players and making 37 bribe payoffs, received a suspended sentence of three to five years because he spent 23 months in jail as a material witness in testifying against Molinas. He also faces a five-to-10 year term on a Florida conviction for football fixing.

Five other former players, Lou Brown, Charles Tucker, Jerry Vogel, Dan Quindazzi, and Dave Budin, received suspended sentences after cooperating with Dist. Atty. Frank Hogan in his investigation.

Brown, who has moved from his Jersey City home to Greenville, N.C., formerly played at the University of North Carolina; Tucker, of Yonkers, N.Y., at Kalamazoo, Mich.; College; Vogel and Quindazzi, both of Yonkers, N.Y., at the University of Alabama; and Budin at Brooklyn College.

Tournament Time Is Here; Middies, Bloomville on Top

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The long process of cutting Ohio's field of 445 Class A high school basketball teams down to the state tourney quartet has started — in Indiana.

Second round games in the Preble County eliminations were staged Monday night at Richmond, Ind., and some others are ready to get under way. All will be in tourney play next week.

Meanwhile 52 of the state's sports editors figured today that Middletown was the top Class AA club of that 471-team contingent, and that Bloomville of Seneca County was the quintet to beat in the smaller school race.

The two unbeaten powerhouse topped the Associated Press poll. The seven-time champion Middies have been alone at the peak all season, but Bloomville, tied a week ago with Columbus University, broke back in front today.

The poll places and current records sometimes mean little as the chips go down in the long grind toward the state meet. Of the 916 schools, 908 must fall by the wayside by the time the March 29-30 finals roll around.

Paint Valley of Ross County is a good illustration. The team has won five straight county league titles but has never won the qualifying tournament—and it starts this week.

Six of Martins Ferry's first 14 games went into overtime — one requiring nine extra sessions—and the Ferrians won five of them, losing only to strong Steubenville. Marion Harding, two games ahead of Mansfield with two to play, can wrap up the Buckeye Conference crown Friday by beating Findlay.

Red Ash says his Canton South team, beaten only by Canton McKinley on the Bulldog court, is a better club than the one he took the state meet in 1948.

Duane Miller of Dalton scored 42 in the 100-54 rout of Shreve for a 462 total and 29-point 16-game average. Mike Hyde, Wakeman Western Reserve's 6-foot-7 senior, leads the Lorain area with 410 points and a 27.3 average.

Paul Wyant, Leipsic's standout, scored 70 points last week in two losing games. He scored 29 in the 66-64 loss to Kalida, then poured in 41 as the Vikings bowed 68-67.

2 Old Crow Indians Seen Ski Champions

OTTAWA, Ont. (AP) — Only a papoose sitter and 200 bucks stand between two Indians from Old Crow and a chance to make the Canadian Olympic skiing team.

Reports from the Far North Woods say the pair, one a 23-year-old mother of five little Indians, may be the fastest things on two skis in all Canada.

If they can make their way to Ottawa from Old Crow, an Arctic Circle hamlet on the Porcupine River in the Yukon, by Thursday they will get a chance to make the Olympic team.

"I'm not going to pooh pooh anything," said Frank Cooke, the selector of the cross-country Olympic team for the Canadian Amateur Ski Association.

Cooke said he had advised the coach of the two Indians, Ben Charlie and Martha Benjamin, that the pair will need a passage to Ottawa and $100 apiece. He will take care of them from here, he said. Martha is expected to leave the children at home.

One report has Ben doing 15 kilometers (about 9 miles) in 55.8 minutes, compared with the best time of 65.0 minutes for Canadian ace Antero Rauhanen over the same distance.

Of the 40 home runs Yankee Ralph Terry allowed in 299 innings last season, 22 were hit in his 23 winning games. Eleven were hit in 12 losing games and 7 were hit in games in which other pitchers figured in the decision.

to Holgate. Hyde of Wakeman also got 70 in two tilts—26 and 44—but his team won both. And John Schroeder of Norwalk had 25 and 29 in two starts for 376 and a 26.8 mark.

Portsmouth, 1-17 last year after winning the Class AA title the season before, is back up to 10-4 this season. Sophomore Larry Hilde of the Trojans has won two games by sinking a pair of free throws in the last two seconds.

Warren and Niles stage their 61st game Friday and it could be something. Niles nipped Steubenville 77-76 a couple of weeks ago, and the next night the Stubbers wrecked Warren 94-65, setting the stage for this one.

Shown are the first-place votes in parentheses, the poll points on a 10-9-8-etc. basis and the worst records of the leaders:

Smith, Hannahs Top Efficiency Cage Ratings

Entire Tiger Team Accorded Plus Score In Blue Lion Game

Tom Smith was rated top player in the Washington C.H. game Friday and Dave Hannahs in the Pleasant View tilt Saturday by the cage coaching staff efficiency charts.

Smith received 73 points for his effort. The Tiger forward was given 25 points on rebounds, 20 on center tips and forty on recoveries. The leading Tiger scorer with 175 points to date, topped a well balanced unit in the Friday tilt.

Garold Dade, playing one of his best games of the year, was accorded 63 points. He grabbed five rebounds, had two assists and two recoveries and hit seven of 13 attempts from the field.

It was the first game in which every Tiger playing finished with a plus score. Under the system used by the Circleville staff it is possible to come up with a minus score, and usually several players in the lineup finish with a negative record.

DAVE BASS had 52 points in the tilt, and Bob Purcell had 47 for the other top grades.

Saturday Hannahs was given a 79. He collected 45 points on rebounds, hit two of two charity tosses and four of 12 field goal attempts.

Bob Purcell tallied 58 in the game and Tom Tootle had 37. The two Tiger guards played outstanding floor games in the Pleasant View loss and came in for warm praise by Paul Reiss, Tiger mentor.

Purcell gained 40 points on rebounds and had two assists while Tootle had one rebound, one center tip, two recoveries and one for one at the free throw line.

Following Smith in the Tiger scoring is Clesson Thomas with 140 markers for the season. Garold Dade has tallied 117 points and Dave Hannahs brought his record to an even 100 with a ten point out-put against Pleasant View.

Bob Waple has 63, Bob Purcell, 55; Dave Bass, 52; George Trego, 30; John P. H. R., 23; Fred Moore, 21; Tom Tootle, 11; and Doug Dunkel, 2.

Prize Rookie Returns Signed Pact to Tribe

CLEVELAND (AP)—Vic Davalillo, 23-year-old prize rookie who is counted on to make the grade with the Cleveland Indians this year, has returned his signed contract.

The signing of Davalillo and two other rookies—Tommie Agee, an outfielder, and catcher Bob Lip-ski—was announced Monday by Tribe General Manager Gabe Paul. They brought to 23 the number of players under contract for the 1963 season.

COLOR

When WBNS-TV (Channel 10) joins the ranks of color telecasters on February 17, owners of color TV sets in the Circleville area will have a choice of color programs on two local stations.

You can be a part of this thrilling event by arranging now to view Channel 10's initial color telecasts on an RCA Victor Color TV set. These C.B.S. telecasts will include such outstanding COLOR programs as "A Visit to Monaco" — an exciting tour of that storybook country narrated by Princess Grace Kelly — and the first of many exciting "Lassie" Shows in sparkling color.

Other color "spectaculars" featuring the top names in show business are already in preparation. These shows are in addition to the more than six hours of daily N.B.C. COLOR programming carried by Channel 4.

Never before have so many COLOR TV shows been available to Central Ohio residents. You can see them best with RCA Victor Color televisions — unexcelled for color fidelity, picture power and styling beauty — performance proved in millions of homes for 8 full years.

Start enjoying Color TV this week for just pennies a day — or slightly more than you'd pay for a good black and white set.

Wisconsin Hands Illinois First Defeat in Big Ten

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Before the start of the college basketball season, Coach Harry Combes of Illinois optimistically declared, "We're shooting for the Big Ten title, and nothing less than a 14-0 mark will please me."

After Monday night, Combes is destined to spend the next five weeks displeased, even if the Illini, fourth-ranked nationally, manage to wrap up the school's first conference title in 11 years.

Wisconsin's underrated Badgers saw to that by handing the Illini their first league defeat, 84-77 at Madison, Wis. The upset left Illinois with a 14-3 record over-all, 6-1 within the Big Ten.

Only two other members of the Top Ten were in action Monday night. Mississippi State's Maroons, No. 6, turned back Kentucky 56-52 on their home floor and took a commanding edge in the Southeastern Conference race. Seventh-ranked Colorado bolstered its Big Eight lead with a 71-60 victory over Oklahoma at Boulder.

Wisconsin, now 3-4 in the Big Ten, utilized a zone defense in the first half and a stall in the second half to thwart Illinois.

Minnesota's hopes of catching Illinois were jolted by Indiana, 89-77, at Bloomington. The Gophers suffered their third league defeat against five victories.

Oklahoma State moved into sole possession of second place in the Big Eight, a game behind Colorado, with a 54-53 verdict at Kansas.

In other games Iowa State was at Nebraska 75-54; Wichita romped at home, wallowing Drake 73-49; Oklahoma City proved a rude host to North Texas 82-69; Maryland won at South Carolina 51-44, Mississippi posted a 85-78 home floor victory over Tennessee and Furman defeated Virginia Military 91-85 at Greenville, S.C.

Elsewhere — Alabama scored at Georgia 61-59; Auburn scored at home over Florida, 88-59; William and Mary routed East Carolina 81-66 at Williamsburg, Va.; Memphis State topped visiting Louisville 76-55; Detroit edged invading Iowa 61-58; Xavier of Ohio was a home court winner against Miami of Ohio 59-57; Seton Hall posted a 99-83 decision at Scranton; Morehead State was a 90-86 victor at home over Murray State; and host Washington State beat Montana 74-63.

Xavier rallied in the closing minutes to defeat Miami. The game was one of three games on the abbreviated Ohio card.

Joe Geiger and Joe McNeil connected on one free throw each in the final minute to provide the victory margin, although Miami's Jeff Gehring was the best scorer of the night with 26 points.

Youngstown was never behind as the Penguins defeated winless Malone of Canton 70-64 for its 14th win of the season against six losses. Fred Jones and Jim Timmerman had 15 points each for the winners while Garth Evans led Malone with 20.

Wilberforce's Bulldogs became the eighth straight victim of Vincennes University, losing 74-60 on the Hoosiers' floor.

Bucks Back In Top Ten Cage Rating

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The University of Cincinnati Bearcats, who have won 37 straight games—including 19 this season—top The Associated Press college basketball poll for the 11th straight week.

Trouble could be ahead when the Bearcats go to Wichita Saturday night. Early last season the Shockers snapped a 27-game Bearcat winning streak 52-51.

Wichita, No. 9 last week, slipped out of the rankings because of a defeat by St. Louis and Ohio State regained a spot in the voting by the 42 members of the special panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Cincinnati got 40 of the 42 first-place votes. Unbeaten Chicago Loyola, 20-0, which continued as runner-up, got one of the other first place votes. The other went to Duke, 17-2, which retained third place.

The top ten, with first place votes in parentheses and points on a 10-9-8 basis, etc. based on games through Saturday, Feb. 9.

1. Cincinnati (40) 418
2. Chicago Loyola (1) 362
3. Duke (1) 324
4. Illinois 302
5. Arizona State 230
6. Mississippi State 145
7. Colorado 116
8. Stanford 78
9. Ohio State 64
10. Georgia Tech 55

Notre Dame will end its 1963 football season by meeting Syracuse on Thanksgiving Day (Nov. 28) in New York City.

GLASSES APLENTY — Lincoln Mader of the Mader Funeral Home takes inventory of some of the glasses he has collected for New Eyes, Inc., a non-profit organization whose sole purpose is to help provide better vision for those who cannot afford spectacles themselves. Mader, volunteer collector here, to date has received more than 500 pairs. He said the first shipment will be made soon to New Eyes headquarters in Short Hills, N. J. However, he said collections will still be conducted here. Several local organizations have aided the project. (Photo by Beaver Studio)

State's Pollution To Be Monitored

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A series of small structures — suggested by the irreverent to resemble outhouses — will play an important part in the state's latest move against pollution of the water you work with, bathe in and drink.

"Besides trying to cure our public waterways of pollution, we're moving into a preventive pollution control program to try to prevent repetition of past sickness or development of new ills during the healing process," says George H. Eagle, chief of the Sanitary Engineering Division of the State Health Department.

The small structures expected to be a big help are monitoring stations, equipped to take samples from water flowing past and record basically what's in it.

Eagle calls this "a first step — a regular and systematic checkup of our patients, namely our streams and lakes, before they get sick."

State health officials hope 50 monitoring stations will be installed at strategic upstream population — industrial centers and at the mouth of key Ohio waterways within three years.

Specialists of the U.S. Geological Survey are installing the equipment and will maintain it under arrangement with the State Health Department.

The federal agency pays for the equipment — Eagle estimates average installation cost at $7,000 — and the approximately $500-per-station-per-year operating cost is paid from an annual grant to Ohio under the Federal Water Pollution Control Act of 1956.

Stations have been set up on the Miami River at Miamisburg and Taylorsville Dam, below Huffman Dam on the Mad River and Englewood Dam on the Stillwater River. Other installations are on the Maumee and Mahoning rivers and near the mouth of the Cuyahoga at Cleveland.

The monitoring stations do not have to be manned, except for maintenance and replacing of graphs, Eagle says.

"In our opinion," he says, "the state needs a monitoring system that provides definition of water quality, a means of assessing natural or man-made contributions to the water, and detection and policing of man-made additions."

With the planned network of monitoring stations and continuation of reports from water and sewage plant operators (on conditions above and below their facilities), Eagle thinks Ohio will be "about as far along" as any state in this phase of pollution control.

"Ohio communities and industry have made progress in building needed treatment facilities, and we are emphasizing proper maintenance and operation," Eagle says. "We want to make sure that wastes get to a treatment plant."

Since the legislature enacted a water pollution control law with teeth in it — fines and imprisonment provisions — in 1951, about $750 million has been invested in cleaner waterways in Ohio, the State Health Department estimates.

About $50 million of that total was spent by municipalities and industries during the past year, it's estimated.

Only seven of Ohio's 194 cities still are without any sewage treatment, the department says, and six now have reached the construction stage. Forty-six villages are regarded as needing facilities, the department says, and 13 are in the construction stage.

Of 570 industries under the Water Pollution Control Board's permit program, officials say 124 need more adequate measures.

Library Plans Using Scouts To Find Books

HEWLETT, N.Y. (AP) — The trouble with some people who borrow books from the public library is, they're not trustworthy. They forget to return them.

The Hewlett-Woodmere public library checked recently and found that 200 delinquent borrowers were holding about 300 books.

In casting about to find some way of getting the books back the library hit on an eager group that is trustworthy. Also loyal, helpful, friendly, courteous, cheerful and thrifty—the Boy Scouts.

Next Saturday, each member of Woodmere Scout Troop 21, armed with a warrant signed by librarian Elizabeth Thomson, will go to the homes of delinquent borrowers and ask for the books.

The plan for the good deed began when Scoutmaster Robert S. Osgard visited the library and learned of Mrs. Thomson's plight. Osgard canvassed his troop and found them ready to do their duty.

Mrs. Thomson, whose son is in the troop, divided this Long Island community—a New York City suburb—into areas. Osgard drew up tentative assignments for his boys, making sure none would have to stray far from home.

The library will bill delinquent borrowers for fines later.

Mrs. Thomson said the missing books are worth about $1,000.

Marion Firm To Assist In Moonshot

MARION, Ohio (AP) — Marion Power Shovel Co., major manufacturer of heavy equipment, has received an order from the Space Agency to build two giant crawler vehicles to be used in the Apollo moonshot program.

To cost $5 million each the 5.5 million pound crawlers will be used to carry the Apollo spacecraft and its equipment into launching position.

Adrian F. Busick, president and general manager of the firm, said Monday night it is too early to say whether the $10 million cost-plus contract will mean additional employment. The firm now employs 1,800 persons.

"It will depend on other business whether the contract imposes an additional load on our facilities," Busick said.

The crawlers will be so big—130 feet long and 115 feet wide—that Marion Power Shovel will ship them in pieces to the Space Agency's launching area near Merritt Island, Fla. They will be capable of lifting a load of 12 million pounds.

The only psychiatrist and trained nurses of my acquaintance are named Bassett, Thorpe and Lucas. I know my way around Alden General better than I do my home-town hospital.

Widows Lucy Carmichael and Vivian Bagley drop into my living room once a week and are most entertaining. What's more, I can relax when they are there, need not make conversation and don't have to dress up for them or offer them refreshments. There's never any problem about their over-staying their welcome. They depart on a split second schedule—or I can dispatch them sooner by a mere twist of my wrist, with no hurt feelings.

I'm not often at home during the daylight hours, but women who are and who turn to television, over the years, get to know the soap opera characters much better than they know their own relatives or friends. Why not? They see Vanessa and hear her troubles every day. Young Dr. Malone usually does more talking in the afternoon than many husbands do when they drag home from work, tired, to bury themselves in a newspaper or to watch the fights.

It is no wonder that the public responds so warmly to "television people." Many of them are more real and closer to the viewers than actual acquaintances.

News Strike Settlement Chances Dim

NEW YORK (AP)—Publishers of New York's nine closed newspapers say a contract settlement with 3,000 striking printers "will be extremely difficult if not impossible" to achieve through normal collective bargaining, and "a long test of economic strength appears inevitable."

The Publishers Association of New York City issued the statement Monday night after the collapse of talks between publishers and printers.

The statement also said: "The publishers hope some way may be found to explore with officials of all unions representing our employees and others to consider our common problem. We all have a deep interest in finding a procedure which will permit resumption of publication of our newspapers and a return to work by all our employees."

Mayor Robert F. Wagner led the more than two-week mediation effort to get the nine major dailies back on the streets. They disappeared 67 days ago.

He announced Monday, after an 18-hour negotiating session that he was recessing the talks indefinitely pending reports from both sides.

In Cleveland, Ohio, negotiations continued in an effort to end the blackout of that city's two newspapers, in its 75th day.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook

Although cold air dominated the entire state Monday night, maximum cooling was prevented by a blanket of clouds in most counties.

However, under partial clearing, Toledo registered 1 above zero. Elsewhere, temperatures included Cincinnati 17, Marietta 73 and Columbus and Zanesville 21.

Precipitation, overnight was very light and quite scattered with a few snow flurries observed at Findlay, Youngstown and Piquette.

Mostly cloudy and cold weather will prevail in Ohio today through Wednesday with chance of light snow flurries for most sections either today, tonight or Wednesday.

Ex-Portsmouth Police Chief Slated for Trial

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — Former Portsmouth Police Chief Robert M. Edwards, who pleaded innocent to bribery charges Monday in Common Pleas Court, will go on trial March 13. Edwards is accused of accepting a $100 bribe from Carl Gillen.

Judge Thomas Mitchell of Jackson County sitting by assignment, rejected a request by Edwards' attorney for a bill of particulars on the charged.

Curbs Sought On 3.2 Beer, Young Drivers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Teen-agers cruising around in a car with a case of 3.2 beer — Cruising around until they get up a head of steam and get into trouble.

That situation is the target of a vote today in the Ohio House.

Under present law, "non-intoxicating" 3.2 can be sold to young people 18 and up. Since it's non-intoxicating, it can be consumed in cars.

That combination, says the Highway Patrol and others, can be pure poison — especially if the youngsters have been able to augment their legally pallid intake with a few drinks of something stronger.

Today's proposal, which will go to the Senate if it passes the House, will prohibit the consumption of beer as well as all other alcoholic beverages in motor vehicles.

Library Plans Using Scouts To Find Books

HEWLETT, N.Y. (AP) — The trouble with some people who borrow books from the public library is, they're not trustworthy. They forget to return them.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Tuesday, Feb. 12, the 43rd day of 1963. There are 322 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this day in 1809, the 16th president of the United States, Abraham Lincoln, was born in a log cabin in Larue County, Ky.

On this day: In 1795, Moses Brown made the first deposit of gold bullion for coinage in the United States.

In 1889, Norman Colman was appointed first secretary of agriculture following elevation of the Bureau of Agriculture to the status of an executive department of the U.S. government.

In 1935, the U.S. Navy dirigible Macon sank off the coast of California with all but two of the 83 persons aboard rescued.

In 1945, the White House announced that the Yalta Big Three Conference produced decisions on the defeat and postwar treatment of Germany.

Today's birthdays: Retired labor leader John L. Lewis is 83. Retired Army Gen. Omar Bradley is 70.

Thought for today: Satire is a sort of glass, wherein beholders do generally discover everybody's face but their own — Sir John Banbrugh.

News Strike Settlement Chances Dim

NEW YORK (AP)—Publishers of New York's nine closed newspapers say a contract settlement with 3,000 striking printers "will be extremely difficult if not impossible" to achieve through normal collective bargaining, and "a long test of economic strength appears inevitable."

The Publishers Association of New York City issued the statement Monday night after the collapse of talks between publishers and printers.

The statement also said: "The publishers hope some way may be found to explore with officials of all unions representing our employees and others to consider our common problem. We all have a deep interest in finding a procedure which will permit resumption of publication of our newspapers and a return to work by all our employees."

Mayor Robert F. Wagner led the more than two-week mediation effort to get the nine major dailies back on the streets. They disappeared 67 days ago.

He announced Monday, after an 18-hour negotiating session that he was recessing the talks indefinitely pending reports from both sides.

In Cleveland, Ohio, negotiations continued in an effort to end the blackout of that city's two newspapers, in its 75th day.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook

Although cold air dominated the entire state Monday night, maximum cooling was prevented by a blanket of clouds in most counties.

However, under partial clearing, Toledo registered 1 above zero. Elsewhere, temperatures included Cincinnati 17, Marietta 23 and Columbus and Zanesville 21.

Precipitation overnight was very light and quite scattered with a few snow flurries observed at Findlay, Youngstown and Piquette.

Mostly cloudy and cold weather will prevail in Ohio today through Wednesday with chance of light snow flurries for most sections either today, tonight or Wednesday.

Ex-Portsmouth Police Chief Stated for Trial

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — Former Portsmouth Police Chief Robert M. Edwards, who pleaded innocent to bribery charges Monday in Common Pleas Court, will go on trial March 13. Edwards is accused of accepting a $100 bribe from Carl Gillen.

Judge Thomas Mitchell of Jackson County sitting by assignment, rejected a request by Edwards' attorney for a bill of particulars on the charged.

Curbs Sought On 3.2 Beer, Young Drivers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Teen-agers cruising around in a car with a case of 3.2 beer — Cruising around until they get up a head of steam and get into trouble.

That situation is the target of a vote today in the Ohio House.

Under present law, "non-intoxicating" 3.2 can be sold to young people 18 and up. Since it's non-intoxicating, it can be consumed in cars.

That combination, says the Highway Patrol and others, can be pure poison — especially if the youngsters have been able to augment their legally pallid intake with a few drinks of something stronger.

Today's proposal, which will go to the Senate if it passes the House, will prohibit the consumption of beer as well as all other alcoholic beverages in motor vehicles.

GLASSES APLENTY — Lincoln Mader of the Mader Funeral Home takes inventory of some of the glasses he has collected for New Eyes, Inc., a non-profit organization whose sole purpose is to help provide better vision for those who cannot afford spectacles themselves. Mader, volunteer collector here, to date has received more than 500 pairs. He said the first shipment will be made soon to New Eyes headquarters in Short Hills, N. J. However, he said collections will still be conducted here. Several local organizations have aided the project. (Photo by Beaver Studio)

State's Pollution To Be Monitored

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A series of small structures — suggested by the irreverent to resemble outhouses — will play an important part in the state's latest move against pollution of the water you work with, bathe in and drink.

"Besides trying to cure our public waterways of pollution, we're moving into a preventive pollution control program to try to prevent repetition of past sickness or development of new ills during the healing process," says George H. Eagle, chief of the Sanitary Engineering Division of the State Health Department.

The small structures expected to be a big help are monitoring stations, equipped to take samples from water flowing past and record basically what's in it.

Eagle calls this "a first step — a regular and systematic checkup of our patients, namely our streams and lakes, before they get sick."

State health officials hope 50 monitoring stations will be installed at strategic upstream population — industrial centers and at the mouth of key Ohio waterways within three years.

Specialists of the U.S. Geological Survey are installing the equipment and will maintain it under arrangement with the State Health Department.

The federal agency pays for the equipment — Eagle estimates average installation cost at $7,000 — and the approximately $500-per-station-per-year operating cost is paid from an annual grant to Ohio under the Federal Water Pollution Control Act of 1956.

Stations have been set up on the Miami River at Miamisburg and Taylorsville Dam, below Huffman Dam on the Mad River and Englewood Dam on the Stillwater River.

Other installations are on the Maumee and Mahoning rivers and near the mouth of the Cuyahoga at Cleveland.

The monitoring stations do not have to be manned, except for maintenance and replacing of graphs, Eagle says.

"In our opinion," he says, "the state needs a monitoring system that provides definition of water quality, a means of assessing natural or man-made contributions to the water, and detection and policing of man-made additions."

With the planned network of monitoring stations and continuation of reports from water and sewage plant operators (on conditions above and below their facilities), Eagle thinks Ohio will be "about as far along" as any state in this phase of pollution control.

"Ohio communities and industry have made progress in building needed treatment facilities, and we are emphasizing proper maintenance and operation," Eagle says. "We want to make sure that wastes get to a treatment plant."

Since the legislature enacted a water pollution control law with teeth in it—fines and imprisonment provisions—in 1951, about $750 million has been invested in cleaner waterways in Ohio, the State Health Department estimates.

About $50 million of that total was spent by municipalities and industries during the past year, it's estimated.

Only seven of Ohio's 194 cities still are without any sewage treatment, the department says, and six now have reached the construction stage. Forty-six villages are regarded as needing facilities, the department says, and 13 are in the construction stage.

Of 570 industries under the Water Pollution Control Board's permit program, officials say 124 need more adequate measures.
